'QUEEN WALLY'

Roll That Over Your Tongue; Will King Wed Divorcee?

(Editor's Note: The most discussed romance in the world today is that of King Edward VIII of Great Britain and a former Baltimore society girl, Mrs. Wallis Simpson. Will she become the queen or remain his companion and friend? The writer of the following extremely interesting story, an Associated Press correspondent on foreign affairs, has known the King for many years. He was with Edward on the front during the World war and later, in London, observed closely his activities as the Prince of Wales. In this and two other stories the famous reporter discusses the numerous phases which will be controlling factors in the final decision and gives many anecdotes illustrating Edward's characteristics.)

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

New YORK, (AP)—Will King Edward of England, world's prize-bachelor, trample on British tradition and override the sentiment of his subjects by marrying his 40-year-old American friend, Mrs. Wallis Simpson, who will have divorced two husbands when her present marriage is dissolved?

His ministers of state would like a quick answer to that vital imperial problem, fearing possible adverse effects on a throne which is all that holds the scattered divisions of the great empire together.

His conservative people are anxious, being in general utterly opposed to the idea of having a divorcee for a queen, even though she be a gentlewoman of undoubted charm and culture.

LLOYDS ANXIOUS TOO

Lloyds brokers would like to know, with the insurance rates fluctuating as speculators gamble on the answer.

British merchants and hotel proprietors need the information so that they can tell whether to continue their preparations for next year's coronation—one of the greatest pageants Britain can boast.

They are afraid the coronation might be postponed if there was a wedding just ahead of it, on the basis that it would be unwise to have two big events so close together. Under normal circumstances six months elapse after a decree nisi is granted before a divorce is made final.

LIKES PRIVATE LIFE

King Edward's inclinations always have been toward the life of a private individual and selection of his own friends.

Rather than become king he would have preferred to remain just plain David Windsor, Canadian rancher and English country gentleman.

However, he has been intensely loyal to the duties imposed on him by birth. He has sacrificed his personal desires, and his people love him for it.

A few months ago it would have seemed absurd to suggest that he might contemplate this marriage, since he is a man of sound commonsense and knows that such a union might harm the prestige of the throne.

Lad Arrested And Will Face Juvenile Court Trial Here

He lay in a ditch, unconscious. Beside him was an empty pint gin bottle. He was 16 years of age.

Officers found him there — at Clair and Dale streets—on Saturday. They took him to the county jail.

When he returned to consciousness, he told officers he had bought the gin for 40 cents at a Huntington Beach liquor store.

Today the boy, whose name is being withheld by The Journal because of his youth, is awaiting trial in the juvenile court. He will be charged with violating the county drunk ordinance.

The case of the 16-year-old boy lying in a ditch in a stupor with a gin bottle beside him is commanding attention of more than the local officers. It is being investigated by the local office of the state board of equalization. This office is in charge of administering the state liquor laws and checking on liquor stores.

These officers will question the proprietor of the Huntington Beach liquor store where the boy said he bought the gin.

Recently the board of equalization office here announced a campaign against stores which sell liquor to minors. One place was closed last week for this offense.

U.S. ACTS TO CURB STRIKE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The maritime commission requested again today that the Pacific coast unions and employers "answer equivocally and without qualification" whether they will continue shipping operations until the commission's investigation of their dispute has been completed.

The commission stressed that its full authority becomes effective today and all efforts would be made to mediate differences in the controversy.

COMPLETE TIE-UP ON COAST THREATENED

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—A complete tie-up of Pacific coast maritime situation was threatened today by an expected walkout vote of 37,000 maritime union workers and failure of shipowners to accept a "compromise" offer by the labor organizations.

The "solid front" unions said the results of a vote to authorize their negotiating committee to call a strike Wednesday would probably be announced today.

CONVICTS FLEE INTO CROWD

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Officers searched nearby bayous today for two long-term convicts, who with three companions broke from an improvised transfer truck on a crowded downtown street last night.

Dense traffic on Main street prevented guards from shooting when the five felons smashed out the top of their improvised wooden cage on the moving truck. Hundreds took part in the chase, and three of the fugitives were quickly recaptured.

Thirty-three convicts kept their places in the truck.

Leading Contender In Baby Derby Is Given Setback

TORONTO. (AP) — The fact that two of the children through whom she hopes to win Toronto's $500,000 baby marathon never have been registered, alarmed Mrs. Grace Bagnato today.

Mrs. Bagnato, long considered a leading aspirant for the prize left by Charles Vance Millar, is virtually out of the running unless she can prove her claim of nine births in the last decade.

She lies in bed, awaiting another birth.

PEDESTRIAN IS KILLED

Fullerton Man Struck By Anaheim Man's Car On Sunday

DRIVE CAREFULLY—DON'T KILL!

Valvidia was walking with a friend along the highway when a car driven by Francis Homer Lowry, 33, Anaheim, unable to swerve far enough to miss the two pedestrians, struck him with the right front fender.

Few Accidents

Witnesses said Valdivia had been drinking. He died of skull fracture. An inquest is pending.

Traffic accidents this week-end were fewer than for several weeks past, with only one other person reported badly injured.

Robert D. Johnson, 35, Long Beach, was taken to the Long Beach community hospital Saturday night after his car, coming into an intersection on Bolsa Chica road, overturned and slithered into a deep ditch. Witnesses said he failed to make a boulevard stop.

Cars Damaged

Cars driven by H. P. Van de Walker, 42, Costa Mesa, and Ruth Handley, 25, 301½ South Sycamore street, collided Saturday evening on Newport boulevard as the Handley auto was passing another car. The autos were badly damaged, but the drivers escaped injury.

Carl O. Juhilin, 1026 West Fourth street, and B. L. Gram, Glendale, were listed as drivers of automobiles which collided Saturday night at Flower and Bishop streets. Neither was injured.

PUERTO RICO'S ENVOY SHOT

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, (AP)—Santiago Iglesias, Puerto Rican resident commissioner to Washington, was shot and wounded slightly last night while speaking to a crowd in the plaza at Mayaguez.

PHILADELPHIA HEARS ALF TONIGHT

Roosevelt Is Writing Speeches For Rest Of the Week

By the Associated Press

Squaring away for the grand finale of the presidential struggle, President Roosevelt and Governor Landon came almost within speaking distance of each other today as they prepared their 11th hour bids for large blocks of electoral votes in the East.

LANDON ON THE AIR
Governor Landon's speech in Philadelphia tonight will be broadcast over KFI at 6:30 o'clock.

While President Roosevelt sat in the White House writing speeches he will deliver in Pennsylvania, New York and nearby states this week, Governor Landon pursued a campaign path that led through Washington en route to Baltimore, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New Jersey and New York. In a speech at Baltimore, he denounced what he called the New Deal's evasion of issues.

One Talk by F. D. R.

Concentrating on speech-writing, Mr. Roosevelt kept his engagement list for today brief. The only talk on the day's schedule was one described by the White House as non-political, an address at the dedication of a PWA-financed chemistry building at Howard university, negro institution here.

Tomorrow night he departs to travel via Bayonne, N. J., to Bedloe's Island, New York harbor, where he will take part in the 50th birthday celebration of the Statute of Liberty Wednesday. Other speeches of the week will be made

'BUM BLOCKADE' IS L. A. PLAN

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Police Chief James E. Davis ordered a blockade today around the city of Los Angeles to keep unemployed transients out during the winter.

Last year the chief blockaded the entire state border and extensive controversy arose over the activities of his "foreign legion."

Today, he ordered that police vagrancy squad forces be increased and that men be assigned to guard all entrances to the city and all railroad yards. He recommended that indigent unemployed transients found in the city be sentenced to at least six months at hard labor. He recommended also that Gov. Frank F. Merriam establish a state border patrol to keep transients out of the state.

Two Americans who were said to have picked up two Mexican boys at Buena Park yesterday were being sought, as Lupe Montanez, 8, and Tony Cueva, 5, Stanton, were reported still missing from their homes.

BRIBE CHARGE AIRED TODAY

Convicted Bookies Tell Court of Fee Paid to Asserted 'Fixer'

Grand jury investigation of bookmaking and a reported attempt at "fixing" and bribery was ordered today as Superior Judge H. G. Ames sentenced two Anaheim bookmakers to county jail terms.

William A. Hale, sentenced to 60 days, and Robert Lusk, sentenced to six months, today related in court a tale of supposed "fixing" which turned the grand jury spotlight on race track gambling in the county.

Paid 'Fixer'

"A fellow named Bishop," they said, told them he could "fix it" with the sheriff and the district attorney for $25 per week, and Lusk paid the $25 fee for six or seven weeks before his establishment was raided.

Both told Judge Ames they closed their shop in Anaheim under a threat from the police chief, but that they reopened after "Bishop" had approached them and they had given him a first payment.

Bishop, whose identity was not further explained, represented that he had the exclusive right to a private telephone line giving racing information and results, the two bookies told the court.

Convicted Tuesday

Judge Ames ordered transcripts of Lusk's and Hale's remarks prepared for the district attorney and the grand jury.

Hale and Lusk were convicted Tuesday on bookmaking charges after a five-day jury trial which was featured by a two-day battle over selection of a jury.

Paul Engle, a third defendant, was found not guilty. Testimony showed he was merely an employe of the bookmaking concern.

Both the convicted bookies commenced serving their sentences this morning.

LUCAS LUCIO REINSTATED

Mexican Group Returns Him As President Of Local Commission

Lucas Lucio has been reinstated as president of the Mexican honorary commission in Santa Ana, he said today.

Furthermore, the Los Angeles Mexican consulate is hoping to establish here a third class office for advice to Mexican nationals here, Lucio said.

Lucio was elected unanimously at a meeting yesterday afternoon in Gonzales hall here, attended by several hundred Mexicans. Consul Elias Colunga of Los Angeles, who recently announced that Lucio was not an official representative of the consulate, was present.

Consul Colunga, Lucio reported, said he was empowered to name whomever he chose, but that since the sentiment of the Mexicans at the meeting was overwhelmingly for Lucio, he would abide by their choice. Edward Sombrano, vice consul, also was present.

Lucio quoted Colunga as saying that if the third class office for Santa Ana is approved by Mexico City, Lucio will be in charge of it.

Consul Colunga is to be replaced here by Donato Lara, who is scheduled to arrive this week.

At yesterday's meeting the persons present also praised W. Maxwell Burke, attorney, saying he has given much free legal service to them.

Claim Capital Cut Off From Sea; 'Something Big' Due Tuesday

LISBON, Portugal. (AP)—The Fascist Spanish government at Burgos announced today Madrid had been completely isolated from the rest of Spain and predicted it would fall to the insurgent armies "within three to 10 days."

A communique, issued at Burgos, said El Escorial, northwest of Madrid, and Aranjuez, to the southeast, both important railway terminals, had been encircled, cutting them off from Madrid.

From Madrid, the railway through Aranjuez leads to vital southeastern seaports such as Valencia.

Claudio Albornoz, whose withdrawal as Spanish ambassador to Lisbon was made necessary last week by Portuugal's action in breaking off diplomatic relations with Madrid, sailed today for Boulogne, France.

Their program will be released by the Don Lee Broadcasting system and KHJ.

ISLE VOLCANO IN ERUPTION

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The motor vessel Santa Cruz, cruising in the waters of the Galapagos archipelago off the coast of Ecuador, radioed to the Associated Press that the Fernandino island volcano was in violent eruption today.

A message from the ship's master, Captain Hage, read:

"The whole south side of the island is one flaming mass of molten lava.

"Flames and lava are shooting 300 feet into the air, with lava running like rivers to the sea. It is an unbelievable sight, like a gigantic furnace.

"The volcano started smoking early today and flames and hot lava started running this evening and seems to increase."

The Galapagos islands have been visited by scientists frequently during recent years. As far as is known, Fernandino island is uninhabited.

One Man's Vote in New York Costs $175!

By EDWARD J. NEIL

NEW YORK. (AP) — Everyone knows that Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred M. Landon meet for the presidency in the polling booths of the nation Nov. 3, but do you know that . . . .

Voters can mark their ballots for Landon in Roosevelt, Ariz., Roosevelt, Ark., Roosevelt, Minn., Roosevelt, Mo., Roosevelt, N. Y., Roosevelt, Okla., Roosevelt, Texas, Roosevelt, Utah, Roosevelt, Wash, Roosevelt, Wis., Roosevelt Beach, Ore., Roosevelt Road, Ill., Roosevelt Park and Roosevelt Square, Mich.

But nowhere can you vote for Roosevelt in Landon, because there is no city or town by that name in the United States. However, there is an Alf, Ark., if you care for diminutives.

There are three cities named Democrat, one in Arkansas, another in Kentucky, and a third in North Carolina. There's a Republican City in Nebraska, and a Republican Grove in Virginia.

The first ballot for president Nov. 3 probably will be cast in New Ashford, Mass., a Berkshire mountain hamlet that for decades has striven with great success to

'A Book of Verse . . .'

The old poet enjoyed a book of verse and a jug of wine beneath the bough; but we can't say that for modern newspaper readers. They do like a bit of good verse every now and then, however, so on Mondays The Journal—through the courtesy of Mina Shafer—prints a selected poem of special merit. There's always a bit of beauty to be gleaned from good poetry. It adds appreciation for the finer things in life. For Poet's Corner, see page 8 in today's Journal.

CAMERA CLUB WILL ENTER CONTEST

Ted Cook Urges Sending Photos to Stanford Museum Display

A hurry-up call has been sounded for members of Orange County Camera club to submit 25 or more of their best prints for exhibition in the art museum of Stanford university at Palo Alto during the second week of November.

"We have been invited to participate in a far-reaching study of modern western photography," said Ted Cook, president of the Orange County club. "Unfortunately, many members who failed to attend last Thursday night's meeting do not know about this exceptional opportunity.

Noted Judges

"We are calling upon members to prepare their best prints, on mounts either 14x18, or 16x20, and rush them to Milan Miller, 1509 North Main street, Santa Ana, before noon of next Sunday, Nov. 1.

"A committee of non-member judges will then select at least 25 of the best prints and send them to Palo Alto. Awards will be made for best club showing and for best individual prints, including portraits, still life, landscape, action, natural history, horses, mountain scenery, industrial and athletic sports.

Meet Dec. 3

"The judges will be Prof. P. Douglas Anderson, famous authority of pictorial photography of Berkeley; Editor George Allen Young of Camera Craft magazine, and Fred Frey, artist."

Camera clubs from eight western states, British Columbia and Hawaii have been invited to participate.

The next meeting of the Orange County Camera club will be held Thursday night, Dec. 3, due to the fact that regular meeting night would fall on Thanksgiving. Competition will be wide open, and members will submit prints on any subject they wish.

Lots of Charges

A flood of charges and countercharges from other campaigners continued through the week-end. Quoting documents which, he said, proved his previous charges concerning Kansas education, James Roosevelt said at Boston that the Landon state administration "has allowed a system to exist which appears to deny the opportunity for real education to . . . many children."

Last week Landon charged, without naming the President's son, that a member of the chief executive's "immediate family" had made "utterly untrue" and "malicious" charges against the Kansas school system.

Knox Moves West

Col. Frank Knox, Landon's "first mate," turned westward from Pennsylvania today to concentrate this week on Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois.

At Jersey City, Mayor Frank Hague, who was Al Smith's floor manager at the 1932 Democratic convention, criticized men he described as "disgruntled Democrats who go around the country begging and pleading with loyal Democrats to destroy the party and vote Republican."

Smith himself was back in New York after a 2000-mile campaign trip through the middle-west in which he called for Landon's election as the remedy against "government in business."

Hoover Off to Denver

After a New York visit, Herbert Hoover departed for Denver to speak Friday night, after which he will campaign for Landon in California.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, predicting war, said conflict would "make Roosevelt dictator," while Dr. F. E. Townsend told a Lexington, Ky., audience to "forget your party lines and vote for a third party candidate, no matter who he may be.

A band of men broke up a Tampa, Fla., meeting, preventing a speech by Earl Browder, Communist. A dozen persons were injured.

JOINS FRIENDS IN JAIL

Rattles Bars and They Open

Alex Morales, 28, objected when they took his friends to jail. He joined them a short time later.

When sheriff's officers arrested Joe Viveros, 22, La Habra, and Albert Morales, 22, Anaheim, on drunk charges yesterday and brought them to the county jail, Alex followed right along.

He stood in the jail entrance, "heckling" the officers. He rang the bell loud and long. He rattled on the bars. He stamped around the lobby in a sort of rage.

"And you," he barked at the jailers "are a ————."

That was too much. They decided to let him in. He was booked on charges of disturbing the peace. He and his brother, Albert, were later released on $50 bail each pending trial.

PLAN TO STUDY DELINQUENCY

To observe work of the Los Angeles co-ordinating council in dealing with potential juvenile delinquents, four Orange county P.-T. A. leaders will attend a conference in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Mrs. H. C. Drown, fourth district president; Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim, Orange president; Mrs. J. J. Mills, Santa Ana president, and Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, Willard school president, will attend the session.

The meeting, to be held in the First Methodist church there tomorrow afternoon, will include talks by legislators, judges and probation officers on problems dealing with pre-delinquent children.

Kenyon J. Scudder, probation officer for Los Angeles county, will be the principal speaker. Exhibits of work, a film of a co-ordinating council convention, section meetings, and reports are on the afternoon's program for the group.

A Santa Ana girl, Miss Edna Wilson, was featured in a picture in the Los Angeles Times this morning. She was posed with Theron Clark, registrar of the University of Southern California, who was showing her a list of honorary societies for which she and other students are eligible.

Miss Wilson was a prominent member of last year's Santa Ana junior college student body, holding the positions of editor of "Del Ano" the school year book, and president of the Moavs, girls' service club. She was also affiliated with Beta Gamma, honor service club. She is the daughter of Mrs. Cora Wilson, 1215 West First street.

For failing to appear as a witness for a trial which was postponed because of illness of the defendant, Miss Virginia Hill of Los Angeles today faced arrest on a bench warrant.

Superior Judge James L. Allen issued the bench warrant and set bond at $200 when Miss Hill failed to appear.

Edward Taber, 59, facing retrial on arson charges after he was successful in an appeal to the district court, sent a physician's certificate stating that Taber was unable to attend court. Trial was postponed to Jan. 4, 1937.

Taber and Jess Sibley were convicted last summer of setting fire to an apartment house in Huntington Beach on March 10, 1932. Both were sentenced to San Quentin penitentiary, but Taber appealed and secured a new trial.

SHREVEPORT, La., (AP)—Guided by testimony of civilians, Barksdale Field officers said today two Langley Field, Va., army officers were killed when they unknowingly flew their big army bomber into the ground during a rain and electrical storm yesterday near Bryan's Mill, Tex.

PLUNGE KILLS MAN, 45, AND DAUGHTER

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A man identified as J. A. McPherson, 45-year-old Chicago advertising representative, and his 10-year-old daughter, Joan, hurtled to their deaths from the twelfth floor of a hotel today.

Witnesses said the girl's body struck the street head first at an entrance of the hotel. About three minutes later the man's body came hurtling to the ground.

McPherson and the girl registered at the hotel Saturday night.

He identified himself to hotel employes as a Chicago advertising man and said he and his daughter had been held up and robbed of their baggage and money near Roosevelt, Tex. He said he expected to receive some money Monday morning.

Meanwhile, San Antonio police revealed they had received a wire from John J. McCarthy, chief of police at St. Louis, asking that a man named McPherson and his daughter be arrested in connection with disappearance of a driverless automobile there Sept. 26.

Justice of the Peace Bat Corrigan returned inquest verdicts of murder and suicide.

COURT TO PASS ON LABOR ACT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Two cases involving constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act were added today by the supreme court to the list of New Deal litigation awaiting a final decision.

In a brief announcement, the tribunal agreed to pass on challenges of the legislation filed by the Associated Press and by the Washington, Virginia and Maryland Coach Company.

The act was sustained by lower courts in both controversies. The statute guarantees collective bargaining to labor and sets up a nation labor relations board to settle industrial disputes.

The court adjourned today until Nov. 9 and will spend the intervening time writing opinions on cases argued during the last two weeks.

'WALLIE'S' CASE UP TUESDAY

IPSWICH, Eng. (AP)—Justice Sir John Anthony Hawke this evening set hearing of Ipswich Assizes divorce suits—a list headed with the intriguing notation "Simpson versus Simpson"—for 2:15 p. m. tomorrow.

The svelte, dark-eyed Mrs. Wallis Simpson, friend of King Edward, waited anxiously for Justice Hawke to pass judgment on two civil cases listed on the assizes docket before her case could be heard tomorrow.

No jury, it was reliably said, would examine the merits of "Wallie's" assertions of infidelity by her ex-guardsman husband. The whole case was expected to be over within 10 minutes.

3 NATIONS TO FIGHT REDS

ROME, (AP)—A tri-partite alignment against Communism—including Italy, Germany and Japan—was hinted today in the newspaper Giornale d'Italia by the authoritative commentator, Virginio Gayda.

"Against Communism, Fascist Italy and National Socialist Germany have decisively reared up in the name of European and world collaboration," Gayda wrote. "We are glad to note faraway Japan also adheres to these positions owing to a similarity of views and purposes."

Gayda, often described as the "unofficial spokesman of the Fascist government, said this about Japan:

"Japan is the advanced sentinel of a living, constructive civilization in the Pacific which sustains an open fight for the defense of the entire Asiatic continent against the corrosions of Communism.

"Japan also left Geneva (the League of Nations) owing to the incomprehension of the league in her vital problem in Manchouquo which was equal to the incomprehension demonstrated in the Italian problem in Ethiopia."

Tar and Feather Case Near Jury

SANTA ROSA. (AP)—The defense rested its case in the tar and feather trial today and Superior Judge Arthur Coats dismissed two more defendants, leaving six of the original 12 persons accused of kidnaping five alleged Communists last year.

Those dismissed were B. H. Madison, Healdsburg fruit buyer, and Thomas Campion, Santa Rosa cigar store clerk.

Judge Coats declared there was no evidence to connect the two with the tar and feathering of Jack Green and Sol Nitzberg, other than as on lookers.

The case was expected to go to the jury late today or tonight.

Ex-Liquor Chief Confesses Bribe

OAKLAND. (AP)—In a surprise move, Michael Connolly, former chief liquor enforcement officer of Alameda county, pleaded guilty today to a charge of soliciting a bribe.

The accusation involved $500 obtained from Jack Biale, Niles restaurant man, who charged two board of equalization agents took the money to quash liquor charges.

QUAKES IN TOKYO

TOKYO, (AP)—Severe earth shocks in Tokyo and Yokohama sent the sleeping populaces fleeing into the streets in their night shirts early today. The tremors began at 12:30 a. m. No damage was reported and there were apparently no casualties.

The luminous appearance sometimes seen in church yards, marshy places and over stagnant pools is called Ignis fatuus or "foolish fire."

Clyde Horner, Houston, Tex., worked 500 hours to build an exact miniature of the Bounty, famous English man-of-war. The tiny model has 121 workable pulleys.

Fire And Firemen Play Hide And Seek on Sunday

Police officers ran 'round and 'round yesterday, looking for a fire. When they got there, the fire was out.

First the alarm in the police station said Fifth and Sycamore. Off they went. Then it made a correction—First and Sycamore. They started for that address. Then it was First and Shelton.

They found where the fire had been, in a garage at 1125 West First street, where a bonfire being tended by Clyde Walker had spread to a garage. Walker put the blaze out with a garden hose.

JURY ARGUES NASON CASE

With the impassioned voice of Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis ringing in their ears, 12 jurors retired at noon today to determine whether Howard Hason, former Tustin pastor, was sane or insane when he allegedly committed perverted offenses against small boys of the community.

Davis struck at the insanity defense, declaring "a man isn't insane because he is nervous and can't sleep." He pointed out that Nason himself said he was sane.

He referred to Nason's outburst in court Thursday when the defendant declared he had wanted to plead not guilty to the morals charge but had been advised to plead guilty to the charges but not guilty by reason of insanity.

"I'm as sane as anyone in this courtroom," Nason protested.

His attorney, R. M. Crookshank, today stressed testimony of several doctors that Nason is insane.

If he is found sane, he may be imprisoned for life in San Quentin penitentiary. If he is found insane, he probably will be committed to a state mental hospital.

AKER RETURNED TO SANTA ANA

Appointments of ministers to California pulpits for the three districts of the state announced today by the Pacific annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, revealed that Cecil M. Aker will continue to fill the pulpit he has occupied in the local church for the past six years.

The Anaheim church will be headed by the Rev. H. F. Beaver, while the Greenville-Talbert church pulpit will be filled by the Rev. E. A. Moody.

The conference, held at Willows, Calif., and which was in session from Oct. 21 until yesterday, was attended by the Rev. Mr. Aker, who, with Mrs. Aker, will spend the next few days visiting in the northern part of the state, returning to Santa Ana next Wednesday.

Firemen Lament Loss of 'Nuisance'

They may have named her "Nuisance," but they want her back.

Firemen at the No. 4 station, 625 Cypress street, couldn't even concentrate on their checker games today. Nuisance, a six-month-old blue Persian cat, was gone.

Nuisance strayed or was picked up Saturday morning. The firemen felt sort of bad about it. She was the only pet they had, and they'd raised her from kittenhood. Today they felt really gloomy.

"Gosh," they said. "We sure would like to have her back. We'll pay a reward even, if somebody has her. She's our only pet."

Mrs. Mabe Hurt In Auto Smashup

Three Santa Ana residents today were recovering from injuries sustained yesterday in a traffic accident in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Helen Mabe, proofreader for The Journal, incurred cuts and bruises and chest injuries. Her son, John, had several teeth smashed, and her mother, Mrs. J. A. Smith, suffered cuts and bruises on her face.

After treatment at a Los Angeles hospital, they were brought to their homes here. Their car was completely demolished.

MAN ACCUSED OF MATRICIDE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., (AP)—A descendant of Huntington's first mayor was questioned by police today about the murder of his 63-year-old mother whose will directed that he receive a $300-a-month income for life.

He is Charles Buffington Baldwin, 41-year-old lawyer and former coal operator, formally charged with murder.

Lieutenant of Detectives Leslie J. Swann arrested the crippled man—he lost a foot in an accident several years ago—as he sat quietly rocking in a chair at the 27-room mansion where he had lived with his mother, Mrs. Juliette Buffington Enslow—found beaten and strangled a week ago.

Arrest Suspect In Extortion

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—The federal bureau of investigation, having arrested one suspect, continued its inquiry today into a $3000 extortion plot aimed at Mrs. Thomas Middleton, aunt of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow.

Melvin Strickland, 27-year-old Atlantic City mechanic, was held in Mercer county jail in default of $10,000 bail to await action of the federal grand jury. He was arrested near Philadelphia Oct. 16, agents said, after fingerprints on a letter threatening Mrs. Middleton were matched with his—on file at state police headquarters.

George Peterkin of Costa Mesa, officer with the Orange county unit of California highway patrol, today added another honor to his growing list of photographic laurels.

He was announced as winner of a certificate of merit in a national newspaper photographic contest, judged yesterday in Washington, D. C. His photograph also won him cash awards in the Southern California district contest which qualified him for the national competition.

Judges included Mrs. Grace Coolidge, widow of the former president; Amelia Earhart, aviatrix; Major Albert W. Stevens, commander of the 1935 National Georgraphic society-Army air corps stratosphere balloon flight; George Henry High, fellow of the Royal Photographic society of Great Britain, and Kenneth Wilson Williams, editor of amateur publications for the Eastman Kodak company.

Soviets Accuse Finns in Murder

MOSCOW. (AP)—The Soviet press charged today a Soviet frontier guard was killed and two others attacked on Russia's Finnish border.

Before the slain guard died, the reports said, he asserted his assailants wore Finnish military uniforms and shot him from across the border Oct. 7.

PROBATION CHARGE

Charged with violating terms of a previous probation by getting arrested on drunk driving charges, Marshall Stricker, 40, Orange cook, was rebooked today for action by Justice of the Peace D. T. Hayden of Tustin township.

TIDELAND OIL PROBE WILL BE MADE

Senator Olson Calls For Meeting of Committee Next Friday

Senator Culbert Olson, leader of California's Epic Democrats, is going to go gunning Friday against proposition 4 on the November ballot—the so-called tideland drilling measure. He is going to use his senate committee on tideland oil in bringing out facts regarding it.

Senator Olson has called a meeting of the committee for the state building in Los Angeles next Friday at 10 a. m. Senator N. T. Edwards of Orange, a member, will attend.

Senator Olson has been informed that $84,000 was contributed in support of the proposed amendment up to Oct. 10. The contributors, according to a letter from Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, were Harold Judson and the Davis-Davidson corporation.

Senator Olson has evinced an interest in Judson and the Davis-Davidson corporation. He is expected to ask them if the money put up was their own or if it was contributed by others.

Proposition 4 provides for slant-drilling from the uplands into state-owned oil pools in the ocean, one of which is located at Huntington Beach. Royalties would be paid to the state by operators. Half of the state's share would go to the state park commission.

MORE ABOUT KING EDWARD

ometer has slipped down toward the storm signal.

Those who are well acquainted with the king say this much is certain:

If folks let him alone he may decide against the marriage as impolitic.

But if anybody, no matter how highly placed, tries to bully him, it will be asking for trouble.

From boyhood, one of Edward's outstanding characteristics has been a rock-ribbed stubbornness in defending what he considered his personal prerogatives.

WANTS HIS OWN WAY

He always has resented, and battled against, any effort to drive him, as his prime minister and other great people have discovered to their discomfit.

Let us take a glimpse into the past for illustration.

All his life Edward has been impatient of the titles and other formalities which go with royalty.

When he was just a gangling, tow-headed lad of 13 he was sent to the Royal Naval college at Osborne. He wanted to be like other boys (just as he now wants to be like other men) and announced that his name was "Wales."

ONE FAMOUS BATTLE

Thereupon, a colleague taunted him with Your Royal Highness."

The little prince fought his tormentor fiercely, with his fists, for half an hour. The heir to the throne emerged with a fine black eye—but with the right to be known as "Wales."

When his austere grandfather, Edward VII, sternly demanded where that black eye came from, the boy replied:

"Oh, one of the chaps 'royal highnessed' me and I had to teach him."

Again, soon after the World war began, the prince, scarcely out of his 'teens, went to France to fight for king and country.

INTO FRONT LINES

He was irked because they kept him at staff headquarters and would not let him battle in the front line trenches like other men.

Finally he flared at the great Lord Kitchener himself, one of the most grim and imposing personalities in Britain.

"What if I do get killed?" raged the prince. "I have plenty of brothers to carry on succession to the throne."

The writer, having been on this front at the time, knows personally that while Edward's regular duties were at headquarters, he did get excursions into the zone of flaming death, the wishes of the cabinet and his father notwithstanding.

OLD CUSTOMS JUNKED

When Edward came to the throne he let it be known both by word and by deed that as long as he must be ruler he intended to rule.

He promptly dumped overboard a lot of cherished customs and in other ways made it apparent that he not only had definite ideas of his own but intended to carry them out—and let anybody try to stop him!

That caused no surprise to those who had been his aides and advisers while he was Prince of Wales.

The world at large knew him as a quiet mannered and rather retiring young man; his close associates knew him as a forceful individualist, and a handful for anybody to manage.

Edward smashed one tradition in his first message to parliament. He bluntly used the first person "I," whereas throughout history the third person had been employed.

At the outset he began to take an active hand in affairs of state, and left no doubt in the minds of his prime minister and other cabinet members that they were dealing with a real personality.

It is commonly reported in England that when Premier Baldwin ventured to make a suggestion regarding Mrs. Simpson, the king promptly told him in effect to look after his own affairs.

LIKES TO FLY

He scrapped a royal precedent in announcing discontinuation of the annual empire-wide broadcast by the king at Christmas time.

There have been many other smaller but still indicative things. Edward has continued to travel by air—the first king in history to fly—against the wishes of the government and his family, who fear for his safety.

The famous royal railway coach was pushed aside, and his majesty contents himself with an ordinary first-class passage on trains, even as you and I. He ducks away from his private police guard and stalks about town alone where he pleases—something his father never would have dreamed of doing.

CLOCKS RIGHT NOW

All the clocks in the royal residence at Sandringham had been kept half an hour fast ever since the time that his grandfather Edward VII, was late for an appointment and decided to set the timepieces ahead to avoid a similar occurrence. Edward VIII had the clocks put right, and people began to speculate as to whether the intended to let his new position interfere with his views of private life.

The royal family always had been supplied with motorcars of English manufacture. Edward recently appeared in a car bearing a famous American name. Coincidently, Mrs. Wally Simpson has one of similar make, and the king's chauffeur frequently drives her.

This is the man who some are trying to drive out of his friendship with Mrs. Simpson. Whatever the decision is regarding the fair American, Edward and the lady will make it themselves.

The attendance the king is paying the southern beauty, and the costly gifts he is said to be showering on her, do not represent his first romance. He has had plenty before, and some seemed fairly serious.

This is not strange, especially in view of the fact that for years the fairest girls of all nations have been throwing themselves at the head of "Prince Charming." The mash notes which daily poured into St. James' palace for the Prince of Wales would have made a Hollywood screen idol green with envy.

The British public for years has been begging Edward to take a bride. Prime Minister Baldwin and others are said to have tried to persuade him to this step, but always he refused. There never has been any objection to his marrying a commoner—the people would applaud him for such a democratic move. They hope he won't marry a divorcee, though.

Tomorrow—Edward as plain David Windsor, citizen-in-ordinary.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

"What is so rare as a day in June?"

It might be a day in October!

This is one time of the year when an Easterner, here in the West, really gets homesick to go "back home" to view God's beauty in nature after Jack Frost has applied the masterly strokes of his brush.

Remember the old russet apple tree on the country school grounds? A scrawny old tree from a former generation. True, the apples were wormy and had no market value, but what would you give for one today? And the shag bark hickory nut tree?

And remember the slippery elm tree (whose bark we used to chew), and the oak and maple trees with their leaves painted in colors that would drive an artist crazy if he tried to put them on canvas?

And the fields of shocked corn, set in rows, with pumpkin and squash. . . .

Now let the sun go down. Pull the shades of dusk. Put a moon up behind some clouds. . . .

The shocks of corn become Indian teepees, and in the dusk and will-o'-the-wisp we see Indian braves dancing about!

It's Indian summer, back East. Remember?

Now It's Gas Masks for Play

School children's play warfare is carried out in realistic fashion in Japan. Here is a group of boys equipped with toy gas masks as well as sticks for weapons. The girls in the background also wear the masks. (Associated Press Photo)

Old Tory Papers Basking Landon, Say Bourbons, But G.O.P. Challenges Claim

By THE DEMOCRATS

In this campaign the independent and liberal or progressive newspapers of the country are aligned on one side, and the newspapers known as the "economic royalists" or "Tories," or "kept press" on the other.

In New York, the Times, which is universally recognized as the leading newspaper in the United States, is independent in politics, but it favors the re-election of President Roosevelt.

A newspaper that for half a century has been independent in politics is the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, but it is now strongly pro-Roosevelt.

The New York Post, the New York World-Telegram, and the Daily News are known as the progressive and liberal New York City papers. They are consistent in actively supporting the Democratic candidate for president this year.

"Tories" for Landon

For many years The Record has had the largest circulation in the Philadelphia metropolitan area. It is a progressive and liberal newspaper. The Record is one of the influences responsible for the belief that Philadelphia, a Republican city, will cast a majority of votes for Roosevelt.

In Chicago, The Times is the one distinctively progressive newspaper in that city. It is wholeheartedly behind the Roosevelt administration.

In the Los Angeles district, the Daily News and the Hollywood Citizen-News are the consistently liberal and progressive newspapers. Both are urging the reelection of President Roosevelt; but the Tory press in Los Angeles, as elsewhere, is lined up with special privilege, the patriotteers, the public plunderers, and the income tax evaders.

The Baltimore Sun, which has been classed as a Democratic newspaper, but is more distinctively a Tory newspaper, is found, as might be expected, supporting Governor Landon.

BY THE REPUBLICANS

Eighty-five to 90 per cent of the newspapers of the country, it is said, are espousing the election of Alfred M. Landon, or, perhaps it could be better said the defeat of Mr. Roosevelt. One by one influential Democratic newspapers, which, for the sake of "party regularity" had stifled its conscience until it could endure hypocrisy no longer, has openly and frankly abandoned the New Deal and declared that it cannot further, either by written word or silent acquiescence, champion Mr. Roosevelt or his socialistic cause.

A short time ago the Baltimore Sun, Democratic to the core, forsook the Roosevelt standard. Recently the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, itself a liberal and oftimes socialistic tendencies and which has supported the past seven Democratic candidates for president, admitted that the road Roosevelt follows is the road to national disaster, and now advocates his defeat.

From out of the pack there has come one to say a word for Roosevelt. The New York Times declares that it will contend for the reelection of the president and to substantiate its attitude sets forth reasons so weird that they condemn both Mr. Roosevelt and itself. Of course, it is nothing for the Times to support Roosevelt; it startles no more than for the New York Herald-Tribune to announce itself for Landon. The Times prefers to travel the road its has invariably traveled. But the arguments which the Times advances are worthy of notice in that they are so in accord with the tempo of all New Deal persuasions.

Unusual Reasons

The Times will advocate the reelection of Roosevelt, it says, because it believes that Mr. Roosevelt is smart enough to turn conservative after election. Putting it a bit more bluntly and a bit more plainly, the Times is for Roosevelt because it thinks him a fraud and a deceiver. The Times admits, when it declares that it feels Roosevelt will "turn," that he is a radical now that he has been a radical since his induction into office. The Times knows that Roosevelt has advocated doctrines of radicalism, that he has proclaimed them on every hand, that he champions them now and that he asks the people to reelect him that they may be continued.

The Times knows, better perhaps than any other journal, that he has been guided by the counsel of the Tugwells and the Frankfurters and that they still remain his advisors. In other words, the Times is for Roosevelt because it thinks he is deceiving the people, that he is uttering political lies, that he is saying he will do one thing while the Times believes he will do the other; in short, that he will betray those who place in him the presidency just as he did after 1932. It is rather a strange political philosophy which the Times proclaims.

PURE... and of finer texture than most anything that touches your lips...

We all agree on this . . . cigarette paper is important. For Chesterfield we use the best paper that we can buy. It is called Champagne Cigarette Paper. It is made from the soft, silky fibre of the flax plant. It is washed over and over in clear, sparkling water.

A lot of the pleasure you get in smoking Chesterfields is due to our using the right kind of cigarette paper. Chesterfield paper is pure, and it burns without taste or odor.

Chesterfield

They're Milder and They Satisfy

Remember this . . . two things make the smoking quality of a cigarette—the tobaccos and the paper. The Champagne cigarette paper on Chesterfields is tested over and over for purity, for the right burning quality. Another reason why Chesterfield wins.

Alhambra at Santa Ana.
Long Beach Poly vs. Long Beach Wilson (Stephens field).
San Diego Hillers at San Diego Hoover.

Elated over the defensive fire shown by the Saints in holding Long Beach Poly's defending champions to a 13-0 score, W. W. (Bill) Foote today pointed his Santa Ana High school football varsity toward its third Coast Prep league assignment with Alhambra's Moors here Saturday afternoon.

Alhambra tossed a monkey-wrench into the prep proceedings with a 14-7 upset over San Diego Hillers, 19-6 conquerors of Santa Ana, while Long Beach Woodrow Wilson's Bruins were tearing San Diego Hoover apart, 25-6, over the week-end. So the Saints will go into their next battle—probably at the Municipal bowl—on the short end of the odds again this week.

Score on 'Breaks'

Except for a fumble recovery and a pass interception, from which Long Beach Poly's two touchdowns originated, the Saint-Jackrabbit feud might have resulted in a draw. Tabbed to lose in the vicinity of four touchdowns, the Santa Ana forwards—particularly Ferris Wall at right tackle—displayed a stubborn defense that discouraged a Poly aggregation that seemed to be pointing toward its "big game" with Long Beach Wilson on Stephens Field next Saturday.

Bob Berryman, the all-Coast league quarterback, was the big gun of Long Beach's running attack, with a net gain of 97 yards from scrimmage on 19 attempts, but two of his backfield teammates—Fullback Elmore and Halfback Sexton—placed Orian Landreth's invaders in scoring position.

The third quarter was only a minute old when Elmore recovered Len Stafford's fumble on Santa Ana's 22-yard line. Berryman gained 2 and 6 over guard, and Elmore made it a first down with a 5-yard gain off tackle to the 9. With a neat piece of quarterbacking, Berryman called for a pass on first down, and it was good over the goal to Sexton for a touchdown. Berryman cruised around left end with three Saints hanging on for the extra point.

Intrcepts Saint Pass

Long Beach's second touchdown followed with dramatic suddenness. Capt. Dwight Nott of the Saints returned the kickoff to the 33, and on the first play attempted a pass which Sexton intercepted on Santa Ana's 36. Berryman broke over right guard and tackle and hot-footed it to a touchdown on his first attempt. Capt. Quentin Klenk's kick was blocked.

The Saints never seriously threatened on offense, but their determined line play sent the highly-favored Jackrabbits reeling in the first half . . . Coach Foote thought Wall was the standout on the line, but lauded the efforts of his ends, Larry Stump and Jim Johnson, the guarding of Monte Klepper, and the backfielding of Al Patterson and Joe Kadowaki. He thought all the Saints showed flashes of brilliance on defense.

Little Eugene Hamaker, reserve back, was credited with Santa Ana's most spectacular run, a 20-yard jaunt around end in the third quarter to the Saint 38.

Assistant Reece Greene came back from Alhambra with a report to Coach Foote that San Diego's Hillers appeared lifeless in their 14-7 loss to Alhambra. Greene believes Santa Ana has a good chance to upset the Moors.

KOEGLER'S CLASS B ELEVEN GAINS TIE

Long Beach Poly's middleweight elevens of the past have run rough-shod over Santa Ana, but Coach Joe Koegler's Class B Saints, showing strength on defense, held the Bunnies to a scoreless draw in the preliminary at the Bowl.

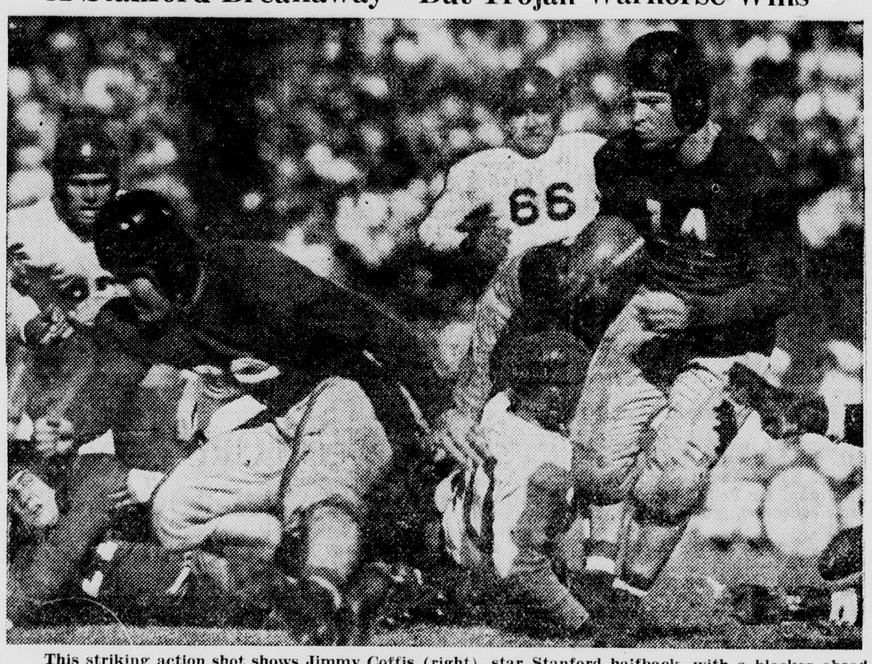

The Saints did not display their customary class on offense, but their defensive efforts halted more than one drive by Long Beach.

Seven of Nation's Football Teams Unbeaten, Untied

By HERBERT BARKER

NEW YORK. (AP) — Gathering forces as it goes along, the football hurricane strikes at Evanston and New York this week.

Big Ten as well as National championship hopes will be at stake in Evanston where Northwestern's undefeated Wildcats attempt to check the Minnesota juggernaut that has rolled over 21 successive rivals. At New York, Fordham's unspectacular but effective Rams tackle Jock Sutherland's Pittsburgh Panthers, riding on high once more since that stunning set-back by Duquesne.

Elsewhere the firing will be heavy but these are the two spots to watch. In the face of Minnesota's awesome rout of Purdue's previously undefeated Boilermakers, 33-0, at Minneapolis last Saturday, it would appear that Northwestern's chances are none too bright but, the Wildcats applied no more pressure than was necessary in halting Illinois, 13-2.

Fordham vs. Pittsburgh

Fordham, handing St. Mary's Gaels their first setback, 7-6, and outplaying the visitors by a wide margin, will take a perfect record into its combat with Pittsburgh whose Panthers developed astonishing power in a 26-0 conquest of Notre Dame, the worst defeat a South Bend team has accepted in 11 years.

Otherwise this week's schedule lines up about like this:

East—The unbeaten or untied list among major schools now has shrunk to seven — Holy Cross, Villanova, Army, Fordham, Yale, George Washington and Georgetown.

Yale, 28-0 conqueror of Rutgers, faces trouble from Dartmouth's Indians who spilled Harvard, 26-7. Holy Cross, winner over Cargenie Tech, 7-0, after being outplayed for three periods, invades Philadelphia to tackle Temple. Army, after a 33-0 "breather" with Springfield, finds Colgate, 41-0 conqueror of LaFayette, on the list. Villanova meets Bucknell; Georgetown, tied 7-7 by New York university, eases off with Shenandoah; George Washington invades the southwest to tackle Rice.

Outstanding on the card from a traditional standpoint is the first of the "big three" classics—Harvard versus Princeton at Cambridge. The Tigers stopped Navy, 7-0, on Ken Sandbach's sleight-of-hand performance last week and figure to win but they do not even come close to rivaling the great Princeton array of last year.

Columbia, surprisingly upset by Michigan, 13-0, will need to look out for trouble from Cornell, 13-7 victor over Penn State. Navy will seek to stop the Penn powerhouse which tramped Brown, 48-6. Boston College, improving rapidly, meets Michigan State and Carnegie plays host to Purdue in leading intersectional tests.

The eastern teams which suffered their first defeats last week, Duquesne and Catholic, will travel. Duquesne, spilled by West Virginia Wesleyan, 2-0, plays Detroit, 20-0 conqueror of Manhattan. Catholic, stopped by the Mississippi Rebels, 14-0, plays Loyola of New Orleans.

Big Ten: The leaders, Northwestern and Minnesota, top the program of course, but Notre Dame's tussle with Ohio State's Buckeyes, who squeezed out a 7-0 victory over Indiana, should draw a near-capacity crowd to South Bend. Wisconsin and Chicago, Indiana and Iowa, Michigan and Illinois are Big Ten pairings. Marquette, which maintained its undefeated status with a fourth-period touchdown that beat Michigan State, 13-7, will be tested by the touring St. Mary's outfit.

Nebraska's 14-0 victory over Oklahoma virtually assured the Cornhuskers of the Big Six title, but they will not be able to let up against Missouri which scored its first conference victory since 1932 in spilling Iowa State, 10-0. Oklahoma and Iowa State are paired in the other conference game. Kansas State, which routed Kansas, 26-6, plays Tulsa, and Kansas meets Arizona.

Southwest: Although held to a scoreless tie by Baylor, Texas A. and M. still tops the conference standings with Southern Methodist yet to be heard from. S. M. U. starts its conference drive against Texas, beaten by Rice, 7-0, last week. A. and M. meets Arkansas, 19-7 victim of Louisiana State. Baylor plays Texas Christian whose intersectional struggle with Mississippi State ended in a 0-0 score.

South: Louisiana, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Alabama, Tulane and Vanderbilt all are unbeaten within the Southeastern conference.

Alabama vs. Kentucky

Vanderbilt, which surprised by holding Georgia Tech to a scoreless tie, runs into the powerful Louisiana outfit, and Alabama tackles Kentucky, hard-pressed to turn back Florida, 7-0.

Georgia, which gave Auburn a tough fight before bowing, 20-13, meets Tennessee's volunteers who engineered last week's biggest upset, a rousing 15-13 conquest of Duke's previously unconquered Blue Devils on a 70-yard runback of a punt by Tom Harp. Mississippi State plays a weak Sewanee array while Tulane, 21-7 conqueror of North Carolina's Tarheels who thus accepted their initial defeat, eases off with Louisiana Tech.

Georgia Tech and Florida meet Southern conference rivals, Clemson and Maryland, respectively. Maryland chalked up a 20-0 victory over Syracuse last week.

The southern conference situation remained little changed. Duke, North Carolina and Washington and Lee are the only unbeaten teams within the conference. Six conference games this week will pit Washington and Lee against Duke, North Carolina against North Carolina State, Virginia against Virginia Military, Virginia Tech against Richmond, Furman against Davidson and South Carolina against Citadel.

Rocky Mountain: Utah State's 12-0 conquest of Utah left the former the leader with four successive victories. Colorado university, beating Colorado State, 9-7, has won two in a row. Utah State plays Denver and Colorado university meets Colorado college this week. Other conference pairings include Utah and Brigham Young and Wyoming and Colorado Mines.

Chicago Bears, N. Y. Giants Top Pro Football Leagues

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Chicago Bears are doing quite a job of dominating the National Professional Football league's western section race but there's an altogether different picture today in the league's eastern division.

While the Bears topped the western section with six victories and no defeats, the New York Giants had taken first place in the Eastern loop away from Pittsburgh. The Giants beat Philadelphia, 21 to 17, yesterday as Pittsburgh was losing to Green Bay, 42 to 10.

The Giants, trailing, 17 to 14, with less than three minutes to play, won on a touchdown by Richards after a pass was ruled complete on the Eagle 15 because of interference.

Jack Mander's talented toe gave Chicago's Bears a 12-to-10 victory over Detroit, the defeat practically eliminating the Lions from all chance of retaining the championship. With his team trailing, 10 to 9, in the second period, Manders booted his second field goal for the winning points.

Chicago's Cardinals lost their sixth straight game, bowing to Brooklyn, 9 to 0, before 17,000 fans, largest crowd of the Dodger season. Ralph Kercheval booted a 10-yard goal and intercepted a pass to score the Brooklyn touchdown.

SETS SWIM RECORD

DUSSELDORF, Germany. (AP)—Dina Senff of Holland today claimed a new women's world record for the 100-meter backstroke swim as she won the event in 1 min. 13.6 sec. in a German-Dutch international competition. The performance was more than five seconds faster than her winning time of 1 min. 18.9 sec. in the Olympic games.

OLE MISS HAS 'GHOST' FOR HALFBACK

Garden Grove Boy Runs Wild as Rebels Beat Catholics, 14 to 0

"He's an all-American halfback if I ever saw one."

With these words of praise, Sportsman Vic Walker was back in Santa Ana today, after watching, as guest of honor, Ray Hapes and the University of Mississippi Rebels outscore Catholic university, 14-0, in a homecoming football game at Oxford, Miss., Saturday.

"Hapes (Garden Grove boy) scored two touchdowns on runs of 40 and 30 yards, but both were called back because of clipping penalties," reported Walker, who was invited to take the airplane trip by the southern university in appreciation of the football talent he has sent the Rebels—Clarence and Ray Hapes, Bert Kidd, Walt Hickman and Dick Moore—in the past two years.

"Hapes is just like a ghost Tacklers reach for him, but don't find him there. He is beyond a doubt the best back I've seen during the past two years.

"Moose Hapes (Ray's 240-pound brother) showed lots of power at fullback.

"I had a chat with Hickman, Moore and Kidd, all of whom are playing regularly for the Mississippi Frosh. Hickman and Kidd are blocking halves, while Moore has been used as an alternate fullback. All are carried away with the school."

Walker was impressed by the type of fans at the game. "I associated with hundreds of students and officials during my visit, and not once did I see any drinking or rowdyism."

INDIANS AND BRUINS HEAD GRID MENU

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Intersectional football bringing together two of the nation's undefeated teams and Coast conference battles involving a pair of the championship contenders provide the highlights of this week-end's far western gridiron program.

Alabama Poly, commonly known as Auburn, comes to San Francisco for a joust with the unbeaten University of Santa Clara eleven, Saturday.

The teams employ virtually the same basis style of attack; both Jack Meagher of Auburn and Buck Shaw of Santa Clara learning their football under the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame.

On seasonal performances they shape up as fairly evenly matched.

Outstanding conference championship contests will pair off undefeated and untied University of Washington with University of Oregon and the formidable University of California at Los Angeles Bruins against Stanford.

Jimmy Phelan's Washington crew chalked up its third conference victory last week-end with a 13 to 0 upending of California. Thus far the class of the big Far Western circuit, the Huskies are favored to take the measure of a fighting Oregon team which last Saturday lost a 3 to 0 decision to Washington State.

The U. C. L. A. Bruins, who bowed to Washington earlier in the season but have since bounced back into a contender's role with 17 to 6 and 22 to 13 victories over California and Oregon State, respectively, figure to outscore Stanford.

In losing to Southern California, 14 to 7 last week, Stanford produced considerably improved attack.

The once proud California team was expected to take another trouncing—that time at the hands of Washington State college.

The four times beaten Oregon State college eleven meets University of Montana, 27-0 victors over Montana State Saturday, in a conference game which has no bearing on the championship. The two elevens appeared to be about evenly matched.

U.C.L.A. Fullback Leads Scorers

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Individual scoring leader Bob Williams of the University of California at Los Angeles increased his margain over other Pacific Coast Conference football players Saturday as the result of a field goal and point after touchdown against Oregon State college.

The fullback has scored 29 points. Two team-mates, Funk and Ferguson, also moved up, each scoring a touchdown.

Williamette Grid Star Third in National Scoring

NEW YORK. (AP) — While an injury kept Bob Davis, Kentucky's touchdown ace, on the sidelines as the Wildcats played Florida Saturday, a new national scoring leader bobbed up in Len Wilson of the high-scoring Appalachian state team of North Carolina.

Wilson collected two touchdowns in a 27-0 victory over South Georgia Teachers to go one point ahead of Davis in the scoring race. In five games so far, Wilson has scored eleven touchdowns and one extra point for a total of 67 points. Davis collected 66 points in five games before he was hurt.

Third place on the list goes to Dick Weisgerber, the East Orange, N. J., boy who went west to play for Williamette in Oregon. A field goal that beat Linfield 3-0 Friday brought his total to 52 points.

Idle in conference play this week, the dashing collegians will keep busy in an attractive engagement with the U. C. L. A. Frosh at the Municipal bowl Friday night.

The Bruin Babes rallied in the fourth quarter to defeat the Stanford yearlings, 23-18, on a 55-yard touchdown run by Ken Washington, negro, in Los Angeles Saturday.

Riverside will face a gruelling test with Pomona's rejuvenated Red Raiders at Riverside Friday night. Fullerton performs at San Bernardino and Citrus plays Chaffey at Ontario.

L. A. GRID PROS IMPRESS, 36-0

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Los Angeles Bulldogs, local entry in the National Professional football league, were off to a clean start today on the current schedule after mopping up on an impotent squad of Hollywood Stars, 36 to 0.

The game, climaxed by a young riot in the closing moments that found rival players trading punches on the field, was staged before 8000 grid fans at Gilmore stadium yesterday.

Ill feeling between the teams flared up when Harry Benson, Bulldog guard and former Western Maryland college player, and Kermit Klitzke, Hollywood tackle, were discovered in a private gouging duel after a punt. Efforts of a Bulldog player to pry the two apart led to an outbreak of flying fists as teammates and bench warmers swarmed around the principals.

Officials finally restored quiet and ejected the brawl leaders from the game.

GINSEBRG AND KUDO CLASH TONIGHT

Winner - Take - All Bout Features Tarzan And 'Baby Bob' at 101

Baby Bob Coleman, 164-pound scientific middleweight, and (Tarzan) Zim, the wildman from South America, collide in the best two-out-of-three falls main event at the Orange County Athletic club tonight. The wrestling headliner will be waged on a winner-take-all basis.

Zim, who scales around 180, has long hair, bare feet and a wild give-and-take style of wrestling that gives the appearance of an escaped circus wildman.

Coleman claims he will put Zim in a cage tonight—a cage attended by hospital attaches.

Last week the pair waged a furious match that ended when Referee McMasters ruled both out for fighting more than 30 seconds in the ringside. The rules prohibit a man from remaining out of the ring for more than 20 seconds and as both broke the rules McMasters called the match a draw.

They meet for the first time in a three-fall bout, and according to the agreement there is no time limit. They'll wrestle until one or the other proves the better man.

Preceding the three-fall finish match, Promoter Sam Sampson has Kiman Kudo, the Japanese star, who beat the giant Pat O'Shocker last week in a mixed jiujitsu and catch-as-catch-can battle, facing the notorious Baron Ginsberg in a straight jiujitsu match.

Falls will not count in this match. They will wrestle until one or the other gives up. The Baron claims he is a master with the Japanese jackets and has beaten better Japanese than Kudo. Several 300-pound Nippons have fallen before the uncanny ability of the Baron, he claims, and he'll "toss Kudo into the bleachers tonight."

An array of topnotch talent, with the popular Bill Hanson appearing against "Ironman" Louie Miller in the special event, indicates Sampson has gone to extremes in supporting tonight's three-fall finish feature. The Hanson-Miller bout would be a main event in itself were it not for the time limit of 30 minutes.

Opening the all-star program will be Al Baffert, French-Canadian, and the bearded Mormon bishop, Brother Jonothan, who has wrestled main events here in the past.

ELEVEN HURT IN CAR RACE

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Rajo Jack, negro automobile racer, was winner today of the 200-mile stock car race at the new Los Angeles speedway. His time was 3 hours, 47 minutes and 4 seconds.

Eleven persons were injured, some seriously, during the gruelling race.

The first accident, which brought 15,000 fans to their feet, found the car of Dee Toran hitting a hole and turning end over end. Toran was slightly injured, but his mechanic, Henry Becker, was removed to a hospital in serious condition.

When their car threw a wheel, Fred Agabashian, pilot, and Vernon Waide, mechanic, turned over several times. Later, a car driven by A. J. Walker with Walt Harris as mechanic, crashed into Agabashan's automobile. All but Agabashan were injured.

Others injured when their automobiles skidded and overturned included Billy Beitch, Howdy Hector, Scotty Lenz and Al Randall.

A PRIMER OF THE WARNER SYSTEM

WINGBACKS

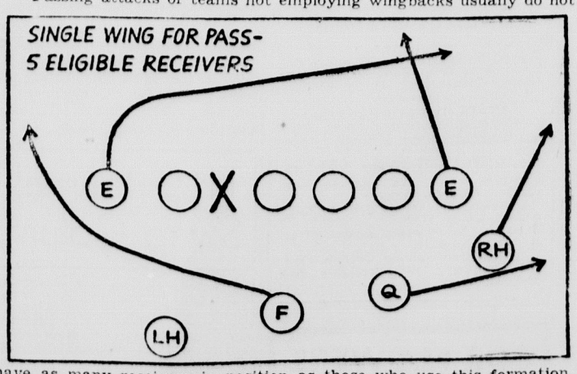

By TINY THORNHILL

The single wingback formation for passes, used frequently by Stanford football teams, is an ideal method of launching this particular attack, in my opinion, because it enables us to send five receivers down the field.

Two of these are available for long shots; the others are in position for side tosses or we can cut a man back for a short whip over the line.

Either the left half or the fullback passes on this formation. The man designated fades back.

Passing attacks of teams not employing wingbacks usually do not have as many receivers in position as those who use this formation Notre Dame teams usually have effective passing attacks but they send only three men down most of the time.

The theory is, of course, that it doesn't matter whether you send one or five receivers down the field, so long as the desired result is gained. In this case, however, the axiom, "there is safety in numbers," seems to me to be applicable.

TED CRAIG TO ADDRESS ASSOCIATED C. OF C. AT ANAHEIM

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

SOMETIMES a guy bumps into things in this newspaper business that make him wonder. And make him mad, a little bit, too. It's just a matter of suddenly coming close to a case that's no doubt duplicated all over this country, which, viewed generally, isn't anything to get excited about, but when on'e dumped right in your lap, a person can't help but be a little alarmed. And sympathetic.

These sputterings concern arrival of a family, within a stone's throw of Santa Ana, from Illinois. A family of seven—father, mother, grandmother and four kids. Clean, decent people, whose only failing seems to have been bad judgment. Or too much faith, perhaps!

They pulled into the county the other day in an antiquated car which breathed its last alongside the highway. There wasn't any more money, no food, hardly enough clothes for the four youngsters, and absolutely no place to go. Have you ever been in that fix? If you haven't, the feelings of that father can't even be imagined!

Anyway, there they were, stranded alongside the highway, close to one of our smaller communities. Folks tell me they are not residents of the state, and so can't get relief of any sort.

Finally a Good Samaratin came along. I was asked to leave his name out of this, but he'll know that some of us appreciate what he did for those people. He picked 'em up, took the entire family to his home, and gave them what he could to make them comfortable in a small house on his property. There, I expect with hopes for a brighter future, the family is living. Sleeping on the floor, with newspapers and a couple of old blankets for covering. Very little food or fuel. No lights. Just the barest necessities.

Neighbors all pitched in to furnish whatever they could, but it isn't a rich community, and donations have been just enough to keep life in the brood. The father isn't young any more, but he picks up a few odd jobs—enough to buy some bread, perhaps. The youngsters were without shoes—one kind-hearted man donated enough for shoes for a couple of the youngsters, however.

But there you have it—I don't know whether the father should be censured for bringing his family to what he expected to be a happier land, where work might be found. I suppose it's only one of a million like cases, but this'n is so close to home that it's sort of frightening, if one puts one's self in the place of that breadwinner.

What are we going to do about it?

And now we'll take the bit in our teeth and steal another of Editor Verner Beck's "Sermons for Chillin." Each week Editor Beck runs these sermons in his San Juan Capistrano paper, and I can't resist re-printing 'em. So here he is:

Today, little chilluns, maybe we ought to hear about the kind man who forgot to remember the Boy Scouts' motto, "Be Prepared" and because he didn't remember, life became a bowl of spinach. He couldn't blame his mama, because she did the right thing for him when he was a little urchin. When the little urchin was growing up his papa and mama didn't know what to do with him, so they made a preacher out of him. He went to the country, where preaching was in a permanent depression, so he raised a few chickens, too. Preachers like chickens, chilluns. Finally he got so many chickens he couldn't handle them alone, so he married a nice boy and a nice girl and let them live in a house on his place if they would make nice chickens out of his little chickens. This young preacher didn't believe in night-gowns because they got around his neck, and pajamas never seemed to fit, so at night he didn't use either one. One moonlight night he heard a noise in the hen pen, and took his shotgun and stepped out for a look. Isaiah, his dog, went along. Suddenly the preacher felt something cold poked against him, and he jumped in the air and both barrels of the shotgun went off, and blew out the window in the nice young people's house, and ruined 17 chickens, too. When he landed he landed on Isaiah, and knew it was Isaiah's nose that had poked against him. Thereupon he changed the dog's name to Judas, because the neighbors looked out of their windows and saw him, and said he had tried to shoot the nice young man who had the nice young lady for a wife. It seemed that every lady's tongue in the neighborhood began to swing on a swivel, so there was nothing for the nice young preacher to do but take Judas and leave that country and go to another one, far, far away, where he and Judas became hermits, and never lived happily ever after. So little chilluns, when you grow up never forget to remember to be prepared, night and day and all the time. This you can do by wearing just what your mam teaches you to wear, even if the summer nights do get kind a warm. You don't want to become hermits, do you, and besides they get microbes in their hair and whiskers, and are nearly always full of the itch."

They appealed to an American Express agency at Shanghai, and representatives of that group contacted Mandeville two days after his mother had reached his bedside.

The mother, Mrs. Margaret Mandeville, dispatched a radiogram through an amateur operator at Shanghai, which was picked up by another amateur at Santa Barbara and delivered here.

Mandeville gained recognition in Tibet to save a sacred temple when he formed a bucket brigade from destruction by fire. He was also lauded for his adventurous navigation of the Tung river, being the first man to travel on the treacherous river from the Tibetian frontier to the coast.

With a companion, Gene Roubin, the former Huntington Beach resident startled natives by constructing a frail boat of bamboo and yak skin craft and navigating the riv? er from Tachienlu and Shanghai.

Editors and Their Opinions

A digest of ideas from Orange county newspapers, reprinted as being of interest to readers of The Journal.

TOWNSEND INVESTIGATION

(Orange Daily News)

The unfairness of political investigations by congressional committees—a subject which this newspaper has heretofore noted—is emphasized by the statement of Congressman Collins charging the investigation of the Townsend movement to have been an effort by the Roosevelt administration to discredit Dr. Townsend because the Townsend movement appeared to be adverse to the political interests of the administration.

Congressman Collins was a member of the Bell committee which conducted the investigation and should know what the committee was attempting. He says that its purposes were political rather than the legitimate purposes of securing information on which to base legislation. Congressman Collins verifies what this newspaper contended throughout the investigation.

Governor Landon, in his Los Angeles address, made the same point and was undoubtedly referring to the Townsend investigation when he declared it to be wholly unfair for a congressional committee to attempt to discredit an individual or group for political purposes.

One of the things that has dignified American political campaigns in the past and set them above European politics is a certain spirit of sportsmanship. This is, perhaps, not so much the choice of politicians as the recognition that the American people demand fair play. These political investigations cannot qualify under American standards.

The Girl of the Rocking Arrow

By JAMES L. RUBEL

John Tedgar, cowboy, framed into prison for a bank robbery that he didn't commit, finishes his term determined to find the real bandit. He assumes the name of Roy Dillon and gets a job on the Rocking Arrow ranch, owned by pretty Sarah Rittle. One day five thousand dollars is stolen from Sarah, and Picos Glassell, her foreman, persuades her that Roy is the thief. Embittered by Sarah's belief in his guilt, Roy flees, but hides out nearby. Learning that Picos is trying to force Sarah to marry him to save herself from bankruptcy, Roy sneaks back, finds the foreman making unwelcome advances to the girl, and knocks him out. Sarah draws her gun on Roy, but he deftly disarms her.

CHAPTER IX

Roy stepped back, grinning at Sarah's rage and discomfiture.

"I jest told yore foreman that it wasn't healthy to draw a gun on me, ma'am. I thought you understood me."

He broke the cylinder of her .38 and let the cartridges sprinkle on the ground. Then he handed it back to her, butt first.

Raging mad now, she stamped her foot.

"Get off this spread! I never want to see you again! You've ruined everything! Bankrupt me! If you're not off this range within twenty-four hours, I'll have a posse after you."

Roy's lips set firmly. "I reckon that's all right with me, ma'm. I ain't hankerin' to stay on this spread. There's only two human being on the place, and both of them are Mexicans!"

He picked up his gun belt and buckled it on. He turned his back and entered the barn.

A moment later, he came out astride his paint. For a moment, he sat looking down at her, eyes narrowed.

"Ma'am, I'm right pleased to have met you, but I'm more pleased to say adios. Far as I care, the Rockin' Arrow can go plumb to blazes!"

Sarah opened her mouth to speak. But Roy had whirled his horse and was riding away.

She gritted her teeth and turned to look at the still unconscious figure of her foreman. She called to Rosa. The cook came with a pail of water. They splashed it over Picos.

He opened his eyes and groaned. Sarah mocked him.

"So you were going to take him apart, eh? You're lucky you're not dead!

A venomous look flashed in Picos' eyes. "I'll fix that guy the next time I see him!" He got groggily to his feet.

She laughed. "You'll have to be a lot swifter at pulling your gun, then. He cut your belt before you could even draw."

There was a light in her eyes. Roy had interfered to save her! She thrilled at the thought. It was just plain perverseness that had made her send him away.

Would he come back? But of course he would! A faint crimson tinted her cheeks. He had not come back this time just to get his warbag. That was just an excuse. He had come back to see her! She was sure of it.

"Yuh better think over what I told yuh," Picos was saying. "I'm buyin' in the Rockin' Arrow and yo're goin' to be Mrs. Glassell or my name ain't Picos!" He grinned crookedly. "I like a girl that's headstrong. I like to tame 'em! Come here and give me a kiss. He reached out for her.

She laughed derisively. "Look out behind you! Roy's watching you.'

The foreman spun on his heel. Then he saw the column of dust that marked the retreating figures of the puncher and his horse.

Sarah chuckled. "Scared to death! I think, Picos, you had better not wait until tomorrow to leave. Roy might come back and decide to finish what he started!"

With a disdainful smile, she turned and, in a moment, had vanished into the ranch house.

Roy reined his horse into a walk as he reached the slope that led up to the ridge. The breeze, fanning his face, had cooled his wrath a little. Mingled with his anger was real fear for the safety of the girl. He had given Picos a thorough licking, but it would take more than that to knock the arrogance out of him.

He reached the ledge and dismounted. For a time, he sat smoking, his eyes concentrating on the ranch house far below him.

Once, his eyes widened with interest as he saw Sarah come from the house and stand looking up at his ledge as if trying to make up her mind whether to call him back. Later, he saw Gimp and the Mexican ride into the yard, unsaddle and disappear into the house. A moment later, Picos came from the bunk house and followed them. Smoke curled in a spiral from the chimney. It was dinner time.

In the afternoon, he began making preparations to leave. He would be a fool to stay any longer. She had made him an outlaw.

The wind suddenly began whistling eerily through the scrub pines in the brush. For the first time, he noticed a wall of black clouds sweeping over the range from the south. He had seen clouds of that nature before. This was the spring equinox, the season of torrential rains. He realized that it would be foolhardy to set out until that ominous blanket of darkness had released its tons of water.

He said aloud, "Paintboy! I reckon you and me'll jest hole in right here for a spell. There ain't any sense in gettin' soaked to the skin. We ain't goin' any place special and we ain't in any great rush."

He unrolled his blanket, pulled his ponch out, and draped it over the roof of his lean-to. He tied the horse with his head and shoulders beneath it, so that he was at least partially protected, and settled down to await the storm.

Thunder reveberated through the draws and brush-marked canyons. The range was blanketed with a curtain of dirty gray.

Then the rain came, at first in great drops, and finally in torrents. Water cascaded from the lean-to, ran in wide rivulets down from the ledge into the gullies and draws, sweeping downward with ever increasing volume.

Suddenly, through this torrential downpour, came the slap-slap of a horse's hoofs. Roy's hand dropped to his gun butt.

Then, Mescal loomed into view. He almost fell from his horse.

"Picos!" he gasped, staggering beneath the crude shelter. "He has kidnaped the senorita!"

'CALLING ALL CARS' DRAMA ON KVOE

Strange Police Drama Scheduled Tonight at 7:30 o'Clock

One of the strangest cases in the records of the San Francisco police department will be recounted in tonight's "Calling All Cars;" broadcast when the radio dramatization of the facts, titled "Criminals Always Return" will be heard on KVOE at 7:30.

How detectives remained at their posts night after night over a period of months, trying to catch a would-be destroyer of a church edifice, and how they missed death by an inch, will be told dramatically by the all-star cast tonight.

Atmospheric music by Frederick Stark's orchestra and the impelling narration of Charles Frederick Lindsley are coupled with the talents of the excellent cast to place tonight's presentation on a par with a standard fixed by a long procession of past successes.

WPA Music Work Is Explained

According to Mrs. Ludlow a large class, with children and adults on the various governmental agencies, is taking lessons at the studio of the Methodist church, South, on Church street at Broadway.

One of the students, Rosa May Phillips, 12, has been receiving instruction for less than four months and is now the piano accompanist for the orchestra at Franklin school, while an adult student at Orange has transposed a song, and plays the accompaniment for her husband at public recitals.

Radio Towers Are Brought to Earth

Radio towers formerly used by KVOE were brought to earth yesterday.

The towers, located on the Register building at Third and Sycamore streets, were erected in 1929 or 1930. They were replaced several weeks ago by a large mast at the new KVOE studio on the Willowick golf course, West Fifth street.

The towers on the Register building were located there because the station's studio was formerly in that building.

ELECTION

register its aggregate opinion first among the towns of the nation.

The polls open there at 5:45 a. m., and the 48 registered voters usually are through by 6:15 a. m.

17 Hours of Voting

The last vote undoubtedly will be cast in the states of Washington and Oregon, where the polls close at 8 p. m., Pacific Time, or 11 p. m. by eastern clocks. Thus the voting span across the nation covers 17 hours.

Martin Station, Ala., would like to contest the first returns position with New Ashford, but the outlook is bad. Martin Station, in the heart of the cotton growing section where Negroes outnumber white folks 10 to 1, has only nine registered voters—three in each of three white families. The polls don't open in Martin Station, however, until 8 a. m. central time

There's another contender in Pointe Aux Barques township in Huron county, Michigan, but the opening time there also gives New Ashford all the best of it. The township treasurer, Theodore M. Shrunk and his wife, who is township clerk, but up a game battle to get the 22 votes of the summer resort township into the national tables first, but their most optimisic guess is 9:30 a. m. central time.

One-Man Precinct

New York's one-man precinct again will stroll to the polls anywhere between 6 a. m. and 9 p. m. while eight attendants at a cost of about $175 to the city solemnly register his preference. Of all the voters enjoying the secrecy of the Australian ballot system throughout the United States, this one man, a rabbi, alone is exempt. By law he must use a voting machine.

He is the only voter in his precinct, and congressional law says he can't be moved to another. It takes a full staff one week to register him. Then on election day there are watchers and checkers and clerks and all to tabulate his lone vote. There is never any question, either, of how he voted. As the rabbi goes, so goes his precinct.

COUNTY SAX QUINTET PLAYS IN SEMI-FINALS TONIGHT

The Golden State Sax Quintet, composed of Dale Twiggs, Chuck Borland, Hank Rankin, Norman Noice and Stan Logsdon, Orange county's entrant in the semi-finals of the "California's Hour" open talent tournament, will face arduous competition tonight when they renew their bid for radio fame and the $500 grand prize awaiting the tournament winner. They will be heard over KHJ at 9:30 o'clock.

The saxophone quintet from Orange county will compete with a guitarist, three tenors, a coloratura soprano, an accordionist and a Redwood City housewife who plays tunes on water glasses. In addition to these, there will be the winner from Oakland and Alameda counties.

The nine contestants will vie for prizes of $100 each and bids to the final competition, which will be awarded the two receiving the largest number of votes from radio listeners following the performance.

In addition to the Orange county semi-finalists, there will be: Hollywood and Beverly Hills—Nicholas Angelo, tenor; San Joaquin county—Carroll Austin, tenor; Tulare county—Veda Murphy, guitarist; Pomona and Ontario — Hollace Shaw, coloratura soprano; Kern county — Lloyd Combs, better known as "Little Mac," tenor; San Mateo county—Mrs. Mae Walford, who plays the "Hydrodaktulopsychicharmonica;" Ventura—Frank Umbro, accordionist, and the winner of the Oakland and Alameda county salute broadcast last Monday night.

Harry Westover Follows Mother into Politics

HARRY C. WESTOVER

(Editor's Note: Who are these candidates for public office in Orange county? What kind of men are they personally? What are their families like? How did they get their start in life, their education and their experience? What are their hobbies? The Journal is publishing a series of biographical sketches about the 12 local candidates who will be on the November ballot. Platforms and campaigns will be ignored in this series. The men themselves, as you would know them if you met them, will be presented. The tenth article appears today.)

His father more than 30 years ago failed in an attempt to establish a Democratic newspaper in Ana. His mother once was in the state assembly.

So Harry C. Westover, candidate for state senate from this county, has a long-time Democratic background for his political campaigning. Since as long as he can remember his family has been Democrat.

He went into the profession of law presumably because his father, the late Judge J. H. Westover, had practiced for years before going into the newspaper field. When Westover was born in Williamstown, Ky., during a May snow storm, his father was circuit judge there.

His mother, definitely in the family tradition, was California's first woman legislator, going to the state assembly in 1916, on the Democratic ticket.

First High School

A few years later the Kentucky Westovers began a migration that carried Harry C. through most of the states in the West. His early education was garnered in schools of Oregon, California and Arizona.

After Westover senior's abortive attempt to enter the Santa Ana publishing field the family returned to Kentucky, where the elder Westover edited a newspaper in Owenton, and eventually moved to Yuma, Ariz., where Harry Westover went through high school.

His first high school was an abandoned prison. He later attended the University of Arizona, where he was graduated, and was one of two members of the University's first graduating class in law.

Married in 1919

During his college years the World war broke out, and Westover joined the army during his senior year. His war experience consisted of a round of duties at various training camps throughout the country.

He was in the army at the time of commencement exercises, and his diploma was handed to Miss Helen Equen, a Mississippi miss. She later became Mrs. Westover.

He married Miss Equen in 1919, while practicing law in Yuma, some nine months after his discharge from the army. Several years after their marriage the couple moved to Santa Ana, where they have since lived.

They have two children. a daughter, Dorothy, 12, who is in the Santa Ana schools, and a 4-year-old son, Harry Equen Westover.

Valenzuela Case

Since Westover's practice was begun in Santa Ana he has handled virtually every type of case. Early this year he defended Natividad Valenzuela, Delhi Mexican convicted by a superior court jury of murdering his wife. Valenzuela's case is now in the California supreme court, following oral hearings on an appeal, held on Oct. 5.

The candidate is a member of the Presbyterian church. As for hobbies, "Everything," he says. And the same goes for diversions.

And right now, as he would tell you, his hobby, diversion and main interest in life is the state senate.

TRAFFIC TOLL IMPROVING

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Automobile fatalities in 132 principal cities during the first 42 weeks of this year totaled 7,089. This was disclosed today by the census bureau, which compared the correct figure with 7,439 in the corresponding 1935 period.

For the week ended Oct. 16, there were 194 automobile deaths compared with 247 for the same week a year ago.

T. B. Programs on KVOE This Week

Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland, county health officer, will head the list of this week's speakers for the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association in its series of broadcasts from KVOE at 12:05 p. m. Tuesday and daily through Saturday.

All of the speakers for this week are members of the Orange county health department, and are listed as follows: Wednesday, Miss Idabel Durgan, P.H.N., "Tuberculosis From a Public Health Nurse's Viewpoint;" Thursday, D. J. M. Bower, county meat and livestock inspector, "Bovine Tuberculosis;" Friday, Mrs. Helen Gramlich, P.H.N., "Why We Should Tuberculin Test Our Children;" Saturday, Miss Irene Preble, P.H.N., "The Changing Picture."

School Program On KVOE Tonight

Opportunities offered by the class in woodwork, machine shop, forge and welding in the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools, will be told in this evening's broadcast from KVOE at 5:30, it was announced by Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department.

Tomorrow's adult education broadcast will present the third of the interesting series of popular astronomy talks by Cecil Wilson and Ferris Scott.

Wednesday's broadcast will be devoted to a special talk by Miss Ruth Bartlett, nationally-known lip reading teacher for the hard of hearing, who will replace Ralph Smedley this week on the Wednesday broadcast.

Paul Kellar Is Soloist Tonight

Top tunes of today's hit parade are programmed for the "Musical Salesman," Paul Kellar, popular pianist-salesman of the O. R. Haan Chrysler and Plymouth distributor for Orange county organization, on KVOE at 8 o'clock tonight.

All of Kellar's piano arrangements will be late hits. Among them he has included "A Star Fell Out of Heaven, "When Did You Leave Heaven," "Would You" and "I'm in the Mood for Love."

Harold Fogel, sales manager for O. R. Haan, will announce the program.

Man Confesses He's Liar, Thus Escaping Charge

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—A game warden met Harry Ainsworth on his return from a hunting trip.

"How about that?" asked the warden, pointing to a newspaper clipping quoting Ainsworth as saying, a year ago, that pheasants in the Dakotas were so plentiful he bagged the limit a day ahead of time.

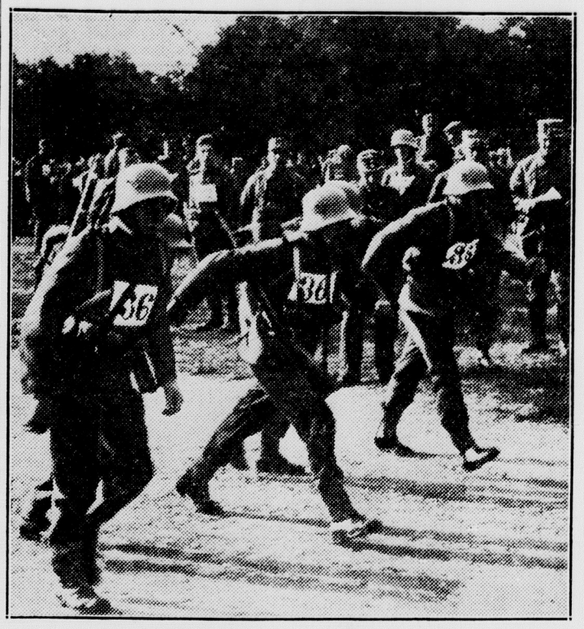

"Why, I'm the biggest liar in Kane county," was the prompt reply.

No arrest was made.

Zipper-Equipped Corn Ear Seen by Patent Men

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Speculating on the wonders of the future, government experts who spend their time examining agricultural patents today envisioned:

Corn on the cob equipped with zippers.

Bananas flourishing in Maine.

Grapefruit that automatically squeezes itself.

Seeds that, planted before breakfast, product ripe vegetables for dinner.

Trees that spring from acorns in a year.

"All of these fancies seem impossible at present," said a patent office statement, "but not necessarily any more so than the airplane or radio would have seemed to the examiners of 1936 when the present system (of industrial patents) was established."

Patents on plants were legalized six years ago and have multiplied like garden weeds in spring rains. More than 1000 applications have been received for patents on vegetables, fruits, flowers and trees.

Approximately 200 have been issued for such things as raspberries, carnations, grass for golf greens and water lillies.

NEGRO MUSIC TO BE FEATURED

Anton Dvorak's impressions of the songs of American negroes blended into a melodic pattern form the basis of his "New World" symphony in E minor, to be played Tuesday evening by the federal music project orchestra.

The performance, scheduled for 8:15 p. m. in the Willard auditorium, Washington and Ross streets, will be directed by Leon Eckles. The Dvorak symphony includes four movements, adagio - allegro molto, largo, scherzo, and finale.

Also on the program are the Hungarian Dances Nos. 1 and 3 by Brahms, the Andante Cantabile of Tschaikowsky, and the Raymond overture by Thomas.

FILIPINOS FORM UNION

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—A move toward organization of Filipino labor was made Saturday with the filing of papers incorporating the "P. I. Labor Union." Directors were Albert J. Reyes, Emilio Repradox, Jeronimo Arca, Procesco Miraflores and Tony Urusa.

IT'S A NEW TAX ON YOUR FOOD

..and other necessities

They call Proposition #22 a "Retail Store License" to hide the fact that you will pay it

IT IS CLEVERLY NAMED to look like something else. But no one denies that its main purpose is to raise retail prices —to increase the cost of living for Californians who can least afford it!

When read carelessly, Proposition #22 sounds innocent enough. It taxes an individual store $1.00 a year for the right to do business. But it taxes chain stores $500.00 for each store over nine.

But, says the U. S. Federal Trade Commission:

"If the ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency or on elimination of credit and delivery cost, is destroyed by taxation, it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax and not the chain."

For chain stores operate on a small profit. They eliminate middlemen's profits and unnecessary in-between expense. The savings they make by operating efficiently are passed on to you in prices 10% below the average. The Harvard (University) School of Business Research states these to be the facts.

The tax is greater than the profit of four out of five chain stores. Thus some of them will be forced to close—allowing their competitors to raise prices.

Surviving chains will be forced to raise their prices to pay the "license."

In either case—you will foot the bill.

Admittedly not for revenue purposes, the tax is a cleverly masked attempt to subsidize the middleman and wasteful business methods—at your expense.

If you think that chain store competition helps to keep all prices reasonable—if you believe that taxes are high enough already, particularly on foods —vote NO and keep prices low.

For no matter what they call it...no matter how they try to conceal it...22 is a tax on you—VOTE NO!

22 IS A TAX ON YOU—VOTE NO!

SOUTHLAND FARM ADVISORS AND GROWERS MEET HERE TUESDAY

FARM PRICES BOOSTED IN SEPTEMBER

Oranges, Lemons, Beeans Included in List of 17 Products

Oranges, lemons and beans are on a list of 17 of California's 24 leading farm products which enjoyed a rise in price during September, according to the University of California college of agriculture. The figures, announced today, were included in a table prepared by H. J. Stover, economist in the Giannini foundation of the university.

The 17 items on the price increase list are lambs, milk, milk fat, butter, wool, horses, barley, wheat, oats, corn, hay (other than alfalfa), alfalfa, cotton, potatoes, beans, oranges and lemons.

Beat 1910 Average

The declines were noted in hogs, eggs and chickens. No change was noted in the price of beef cattle, veal calves, sheep and apples in the comparison between the two Septembers.

As a result of these increases the average price for the 24 products last September was 111 per cent of the 1910-1915 average, which has been indexed at 100 by Stover and which might be said to cover "normal year" returns.

By the same comparison, the September prices were three points in advance of the August prices this year, but the monthly average for this year, as a whole, based on the same index, has been going along on a fairly even keel since the first of the year.

Field Crops Up

Hogs, the livestock leader, broke 10 cents a hundred pounds in September from the August figure of $10.60. This latter figure was also the September, 1935, quotation. Field crops continued their good showing, being generally above the September, 1935, quotations. Potatoes are still a leader, but the September price of $1.83 a hundred pounds, is $1.17 below the year's "top" of $3, which was reached during the summer shortage.

The comparisons are offered without comment by Stover, but indicate that for some months past, the effect of stabilizating factors have been noted in California agriculture.

Public Taste on Celery Shifting

A complete reversal in public tastes for celery was reported today in a bulletin from the California department of agriculture.

After many years of preference for white, bleached celery, housewives have discovered suddenly that the green stalks have more flavor and are just as tender, the department reported. A new green-stemmed strain is responsible for the switch.

Woodrow Wilson Promoted League of Nations

A schoolmaster came to the White House after 25 years of teaching and two years as governor of New Jersey. Woodrow Wilson revived the habit of George Washington of speaking in person in congress, instead of sending messages.

The World war broke out in Europe during his first term and he was re-elected on the platform of "He kept us out of war."

After the war he was the co-author of the League of Nations covenant. He went to Paris to the peace conference, which was considered by many a great mistake.

He went on a speaking tour for his ideal of a world court called the League of Nations and was stricken with apoplexy. He returned to the White House an invalid.

To him is given the credit of winning the World war. Congress declared war and swung the force of the United States to the Allies at the right time. "Make the world safe for democracy" was the war cry.

Wilson's ideal of democracy for the world was to be expressed in the League of Nations. By now you can judge how well his ideal has been put over. No doubt we need democracy for all the world, but it seems to be in the far, far future.

He was the son of the Rev. Joseph R. Wilson and Janet Woodrow. He was educated at Princeton and became a lawyer and teacher. He belonged to the Presbyterian church. Born Dec. 28, 1856, he died Feb. 3, 1924. He was married in 1885 to Ellen Louise Axson. They had three daughters. His second marriage was in 1915 to Edith Galt. In the election of 1912 he received 435 of the 531 electoral votes. In 1916 he received 277 out of 531.

BURGLAR TAKES HANDKERCHIEFS

A burglar with strange tastes was being sought by sheriff's officers today. He took everything from a radio to an assortment of ladies' handkerchiefs.

Unable to pry open the door of the A. A. Ehmann home in Santa Ana canyon over the week-end with a chisel, he threw a rock through a door window and opened the door. Ransacking the house, he left several things of value and went away with the following:

A table radio, a .38-calber revolver, 30 or 40 cans of vegetables and fruit, a rose-colored silk brocade bedspread, a red and blue wool blanket, foreign and United States coins, and the handkerchiefs.

The principals, from San Diego, will be supported by the chorus from Santa Ana under direction of Dodley Page Harper.

Charles Cannon, whose KoKo in "The Mikado" stopped performances for encores of "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," will be cast as one of the two gondoliers. Others in the cast include Jack Dawson, Helen LaZelle, Genevieve Roberts, Carmen Conger, Gerrard Dougherty and George Guenther.

KENTUCKY'S VOTE NOT TO BE DELAYED NOW

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky won't have a delayed count Nov. 3 to give the nation the jitters in event the result of the presidential election hinges upon its 11 electoral votes. Four years ago a new election law, designed to prevent fraud, postponed the start of the count until the next day. The legislature yielded this year to a general complaint that the delay frayed the nerves of candidates and voters alike. It retained, however, the main feature of the law that precinct officials deliver the tripadlocked metal boxes to the courthouses for tabulation under close scrutiny of party watchers. The amended law directs that the county boards begin the count one hour after the polls close at 4 p. m. Modern roads now help speed election returns in many mountain districts, but in some remote sections it still is necessary to pack ballot boxes mule back over trails to the county seat.

Mrs. Zerman Presides at Party

Flower Courtesies are Extended by Friends of Hostess

Mrs. A. N. Zerman was hostess Saturday at one of her charming luncheons, the last of the series she has been giving through the early fall.

The seven small tables at which she seated her guests for luncheon were covered with dainty linens and centered by small flaring silver vases each with a lovely arrangement of button chrysanthemums in pink, yellow and orchid.

Autumn leaf place cards and a small boutonnier at each plate completed the pretty effect.

At the close of the contract games enjoyed during the afternoon, Mrs. Paul Ragan scored high, Mrs. Nowotny second, and Mrs. Theo Winbigler third, and Mrs. Franklin West received consolation. Each received a pottery pitcher.

Rites Read In Pretty Garden

Sunshine and a beautiful garden created the setting Sunday afternoon for the lovely outdoor ceremony in which Miss Inez Lampkin Effinger of Santa Ana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Effinger of Los Angeles, was united in marriage with William Gunn of Sacramento.

The gardens were those of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop on Fairhaven Road, Orange, where a pergola across the tree-lined drive from the house formed a natural garden background colorful with vines and potted begonias.

In its setting, alone, the wedding expressed a charming sentiment, for two years ago in this same garden yesterday's bride acted as maid of honor for Miss Velma Bishop, when she became Mrs. John W. Dunlap, and the latter yesterday attended Miss Effinger as her matron of honor.

Music In House

Piano music from the house preceded the pretty ceremony, Miss Marcella Pownall, a Pasadena friend of the bride, playing soft wedding music for a half hour before the wedding march signalled the processional to the garden altar.

As the opening strains of the Lohengrin march were heard, the bridegroom and his best man, William Bergren of Pasadena, and the minister, the Rev. Harry Gray, rector of St. Clements Episcopal church in Huntington Park, came down a side path through the garden to the altar, where they were met by the two ushers, Charles Leach and David Brown, and the bridesmaids, Miss Helen Mulholland of Santa Ana and Miss Helen Higley of Pasadena.

Miss Mulholland was in a charming yellow net frock over taffeta, and wore a coronet of yellow flowers in her hair, and Miss Higley was in pale blue with matching coronet. Both carried chrysanthemums in two shades to harmonize with their dresses.

Matron of Honor

Mrs. Dunlap, as matron of honor, preceded the bride up the aisle, wearing a flesh pink dress trimmed with lace and had a pink coronet in her hair. Her bouquet was of pink chrysanthemums and blue delphinium.

The bride, herself, was in an exquisite, handmade gown of white, transparent velvet, made with long sleeves and a train, and had a short veil caught to a close fitting cap. She carried a lovely sheaf of bride's roses and bouvardia.

Forty guests gathered on the lawn to witness the impressive, double ring ceremony, later being invited into the attractive home where the bridal party received and where the wedding cake was cut and served. Mothers of the bride and bridegroom assisted in receiving, Mrs. Effinger wearing a flowered chiffon with dubonnet velvet jacket and the groom's mother wearing dark brown. Both had flower corsages.

All of the attendants were former classmates of the bride and bridegroom in high school and college.

Friends Assist

Miss Mabel Kay and Mrs. Louise Denny assisted in serving and entertaining, and the bride cut her own cake, a beautiful, two-tiered cake with wedding decoration worked into the frosting, which centered the lace-covered table in the dining room.

Changing to a dress of stone blue light weight wool with darker blue coat and accessories, the bride departed later in the afternoon with her new husband for a honeymoon which will take them in about a week to Sacramento, their new home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gunn are graduates of the University of Southern California, the former in the college of commerce and the bride in the school of journalism. Mr. Gunn is employed in the government offices at the state capital.

The bride has been engaged in newspaper business for a little more than a year, first at Lompoc and for six months on the Santa Ana Journal. She made a wide circle of friends during her period of residence here.

The pretty improvised altar in the pergola was the work of Gordon and Noble Bishop, sons of the home.

PILOTEERS PLEDGE EIGHT

Piloteers, the newest of the junior college women's service organizations, pledged eight college women at the close of rush week, giving the club pledge to the new members at a pretty tea Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Leola Schroeder, 2227 Lincoln.

Orange and yellow chrysanthemums in a pumpkin holder centered the lace covered table at which tea was served, yellow and orange tapers and persimmons adding to the colorful effect.

The pledges, who were the honored guests, were the Misses Pearl Worthy, Virginia Motley, Madeline DeBrower, Roberta Berry, Phyllis Farquhar, LaVene Parks, Ruth Curren, and Jean McBurney; and members present were the president, Miss Bessie Burles, the Misses Clarice Miller, Charlotte McCausland, Margaret Crowl, Eunice Filer, Mildred Filer, Marian Pletke, Leola Schroeder, Marijane Belcher, Eleanor Buckles, Irene Piety, Lois Newbold, and Evelyn Hammett, and the advisor, Mrs. Violet Bartholomew.

Two Weddings In Chapel Patio

Two weddings of the week-end had their setting in the recently completed patio of Santa Ana Wedding chapel, the first, a candlelight service Saturday night at 9 o'clock, uniting in marriage Miss Jean L. Smith, daughter of Mell Smith of 822 North Garnsey, and Thomas Robertson, son of the J. R. Robertsons, also of Santa Ana.

The rites were read by the Rev. Mr. H. W. Meyer of St. Paul's Lutheran church, the bride wearing a smart navy blue frock with white trimming and navy blue accessories and carrying Talisman roses.

She was attended by Miss Louise Smith of Brea, also in navy blue with accessories to match, and carrying pink rose buds. Glenn Young of Artesia was the best man. Fifteen close friends attended the ceremony. Mrs. Raymond Warren of Orange played the wedding marches.

A reception at the Smith home followed, with the bride's aunt, Miss Rose Gelderman, in charge, and the couple then left on a honeymoon. They will make their home at 422 West Palm in Monrovia, where the bridegroom is opening a dental laboratory.

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the patio was the scene of the wedding of a Colton couple, Miss Eunice Adeline Bainey, daughter of the Stanley Baineys of Colton, and Kenneth W. Watson, son of the Charles Watsons of the same town.

Sixty guests witnessed the pretty ceremony performed by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss. The bride, who wore a princess gown of white chiffon velvet with long train and tulle veil, and carried a sheaf of white chrysanthemums, was attended by Miss Vida Crunk as bridesmaid, and Miss Mary Jane Andrews as maid of honor, both of Colton.

Miss Mary Lou Hamman of Balboa Beach was a charming flower girl.

James Powell of Colton was the best man, and Volney O. Elliott of Anaheim was the usher. Little Jimmie Walker of Santa Ana was the ringbearer.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Henry C. Walker, in this city, the bride cutting a pretty wedding cake before leaving with her new husband for a honeymoon and their home in Colton.

MRS. TIBBS IS PARTY HOSTESS

A colorful little affair was the dessert bridge at which Mrs. Wayne Tibbs entertained Friday at her home, 425 North McClay street, for her living room and tables were profusely decorated with multi-colored chrysanthemums of all sizes.

At the bridge which followed the delicious dessert course served by the hostess Mrs. Lee Boyle and Mrs. Ray Price held first and second high scores, and were awarded pretty gifts. Mrs. Tibbs also presented Mrs. Ernest Bierbaum, a guest, with a dainty memento.

Guests of Mrs. Tibbs were Mrs. Boyle, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Bierbaum, Mrs. Louise Sanford, Mrs. William Gray, Mrs. Margaret Couch and Mrs. Hazel Kay.

Lonesome Father Writes on Subject of Parent-Love Philosophy

By MARY SEODDARD

Is it better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all? "No" recently answered a lonesome father, who, at middle-age, has just been robbed of his home and two children through divorce.

This philosophy doesn't apply where there are children to be considered, he wrote in a previous letter, because they are the losers in a scheme they have no say about. Several readers wrote sympathetic answers to him and he answers them with some more parent-love philosophy:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I sometimes feel tempted to ask in all sincerity: Has the right upbringing of children become a lost art? Is that all-important problem not understood any more in all its phases and fullness? If so, then maybe it is perfectly all right that some of us old-timers get in a word now and then.

When it comes to moulding a child's mentality and character you are on a job where any neglect in early years cannot be made up for in later years.

During the child's formative years, each day furnishes additional material to the building of that new person—its mind-structure, its personality. If the building material—the surroundings, the teaching, the examples and other influences—are good, it helps develop a fine human being. If the material consists of physical hurt, abuse, hate, bad language, home-dissolving mental atmosphere and other destructive influences, then each day puts in wrong material in the building of that soul and we know what the great Nazarene teacher said about those who inflict such damages on the soul-life of a child—"It were better they had a millstone around their neck and were sunk into the deepest sea."

I don't say but what some of such damage to mentality and character may be partially corrected later on, but anyone who knows something about psychology and the laws of mental development and the forming of character knows also that for right results such upbuilding must go on continuously and without interruption from the start and till no more false material can be chiseled in by any outside influence.

And when is the start? The right time for the start is—well, the child should be longed for and loved long before it is born.

And when is the right kind of development finished? Perhaps not until late in life. When we have learned that the sweetest and most wonderful thing in the universe is the lovely purity of an unspoiled child—when we have learned to reawaken in ourselves what still may remain of our child-heart.

I know some readers will say I don't know what I am talking about when I ask if the ideal child raising is a lost art. There are now kindergartens and playgrounds and health inspection, et cetera. Much of this is good. But these facilities should be only supplemental to the parental part of the development scheme and not be made an excuse for shifting over parent duties to somewhere else.

For some of you know, and you bet the child knows, that there is not a nurse or kindergarten teacher in the whole world that can send the same kind of love magnetism in to the child's eyes and heart as the child's own mother can, when she has the loving mother-heart the creative Eternal Power meant she should have.

And the same goes for every normal father. And the child needs the vitalizing life and love radiation from both of these sources. And to rob a child of any good and upbuilding influence it was entitled to be nourished by, is an unforgivable sin.

LONESOME FATHER.

WOMAN IN GREY

Who is that woman
standing at the edge of things always looking on . . .
the same face always . . . and resigned . . .
Yet infinately kind?

We saw her at the battle of Marathon through the arrows and dust . . .
and again at dawn
when the dead were gathered;
and we saw her an instant
in the thunder of Verdun.

Always in the darkest hour whenever we toiled or struggled we saw her . . .
down in the mines
when the sweat on our faces gleamed in the torch-light;
or when we hauled on the braces or on the yard-arms clawed frozen sails;
and when we followed the faint trails
amid fang and fever with the jungle overhead.

Who is that woman?
was it she who stood, too,
among the sullen shadows at dusk when three black crosses scratched the sky?

. . . When we have forgotten the gold and ivory . . .
when the war-songs have all been sung
and the bows unstrung
when the battlements have fallen in dust;
when the swords are broken and the cannon rusted . . .
when we have left Calypso and passed beyond Charybdis we can come home then.

She has supper ready
And we smell the wood-smoke and the cattle lowing in the old pasture.

BIRTHDAY PARTY HELD SATURDAY

The twelfth birthday anniversary of Mary Elizabeth Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Abbott, 1717 North Baker street, was celebrated in festive fashion on Saturday afternoon when she and her mother entertained a little group of school friends.

Hallowe'en decorations adorned the living room and the dining room table where many goodies were served in addition to a pretty birthday cake.

Monopoly and other games occupied the afternoon, and Lillian Tryson, Virginia Woodward, Marjorie Adkinson and Patricia Paul showed themselves to be specially proficient at the various contests entered into.

Bon Voyage Courtesy Given

Mrs. Eugene Robinson entertained with a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon Friday as a bon voyage courtesy to Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, who, with Mr. Reinhaus, left last night on the S.S. Pennsylvania for the East by way of the Panama canal.

Mrs. Robinson gave the affair in her new, early American home at 2103 North Flower street, rooms of which were enhanced by bouquets of button chrysanthemus and Mexican sunflowers. Draped over the piano to create a lovely effect was a beautiful paisley shawl which had been the wedding shawl of the hostess' grandmother, and which Mrs. Robinson had just received as a gift from her mother.

The delicious luncheon was served at a long table spread with Irish lace doilies, with three colonial bouquets of sweet peas, roses, ranunculus, and Queen Ann's lace, surrounded by silver leaves, down the center.

After luncheon, the guests enjoyed looking over the new home and then spent several hours at needlework and chat, Mrs. H. J. Howard adding to the enjoyment with a group of vocal solos accompanied by Mrs. Richard Couden.

Friends gathered to honor Mrs. Reinhaus were Mrs. Max Reinhaus, mother-in-law of the honored guest; Mrs. Couden, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Robert Steinberger, Mrs. Zoe Mitchell, Mrs. Maurice Enderle, and Miss Louise Tubbs.

CARD PARTY AFTER MEETING

Mrs. Hazel Hall was initiated into the Young Ladies' institute at its recent meeting presided over by Mrs. Dorothy Gisler, and reports were given of the dance and card party by Mrs. Margaret Young and Mrs. Margaret Johnson. Mrs. Ursula Telef was the lucky winner of the cash award in connection with the party.

Mrs. Lillian Glaab was unanimously elected organist to fill the vacancy left by resignation of Mrs. M. Taylor.

Cards followed the meeting, the second in a series of four card parties being held by the group, and prizes went to Mrs. Frances Faulkner, first; Mrs. Rose Edwards, second, and Mrs. Gisler, low.

Athletes Need Health Protection

By CLAUD CHRISMAN, M. D.

Many sons and daughters are entering high school and college. They will take part in some form of athletics from the very mildest to the most strenuous. Accidents will happen, but we must do our best to keep them down to simple bruises.

Every growing young person should enter into some sport or form of systematic exercise. There should be some sport provided for the more delicate since they really need it most.

Every high school and college should provide as carefully for the exercise of the pupils' bodies as they do for brain training. Boys or girls should not be permitted to take up any form of athletics until they have undergone a thorough physical examination, no matter how hearty they may appear.

Young people from 15 to 23 are in the formative stage. Co-ordination is far from perfect and sports are needed to develop all this growth. But, they should be regulated sports and not just haphazard.

Average children running free and wild will take the exercise they need, stop when they are tired and not do themselves any harm. In the field of competitive sports, they do as they are told and are ashamed to say they are tired. Often they continue playing when they know they should stop. At this age the heart muscle may not be able to keep up with the body growth. Leaking of the valves is common. Proper exercise will remedy this trouble.

The muscles of the legs, arms, and back have not reached their proper measurements; some are too long, some too short. The joints are loose and the protecting tendons do not have proper support. If this child enters into too rigorous sports, injury is very likely to result.

But, by careful systematic training, all these conditions are corrected and perfect development and coordination is the reward. A well trained athlete seldom suffers serious injury, but a poorly trained one is always getting hurt.

Many coaches complain that their teams are suffering from too many injuries. I wonder if they ever think that they often have themselves to blame.

When your child enters school you should visit the medical and coaching departments to see that careful note is taken of your child's physical condition and that his athletics are carefully guarded.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Tonight in California, Townsend mass meetings will be held all over the state. The clubs will assemble in groups in the various towns, and each gathering will have a radio installed so that each can listen to a broadcast at 8 p. m. The message will come over KNX in Southern California. I give this information so the Townsendites, who for various reason cannot attend the meetings can tune in on the radio program from 8 to 9 p. m., anyway. It is reported that there will be a special message from Dr. Townsend (of too confidential a nature to broadcast over the radio), which will be read to the assembled audiences tonight. The writer does not know just what arrangements have been made for the meetings in all portions of the county, so it is impossible to give complete information as to just where these meetings are to be held. But in the lines that follow he will tell of such as he knows about.

Walter R. Robb

In Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street, in Santa Ana, at 7:30 o'clock tonight, several of the Santa Ana clubs are joining together in one of these meetings. It is club No. 2's regular meeting night, and their place of meeting, but the writer knows that it is going to be a joint affair with the latchstring of welcome out to all of other clubs, who want fellowship in this state wide radio mass meeting.

Orange clubs Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are assembling early tonight. Their meeting will be held in their Townsend hall at 149 South Glassell street, and will begin promptly at 7 p. m. At this hour Miss Frances Hansen, 16-year-old Alhambra high school girl will address the gathering. The writer had promised to be present and write up this meeting for the Orange clubs, but he was taken sick Saturday night and is hammering out these lines while being propped up in bed. Unless he improves rapidly he fears he will not be able to be present. But will do so if possible. He is in hopes however that all Orange Townsendites will take advantage of the opportunity of attending this meeting and hearing this girl orator.

The Anaheim club will meet in its hall at 210 South Clementine street at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Clubs nearby which haven't meetings of their own could attend this meeting. Mrs. Ida Freeman is president, and she will give a cordial welcome to all visitors, the writer is certain.

Out at Costa Mesa, club No. 2 will be holding a pot-luck dinner affair at 6:30 tomorrow night, in the Lindbergh school building. Cosa Mesa club No. 1 will join in this meeting. Everybody from everywhere will be welcome to participate in the good time. The only requirements are that each bring his own table service and contributions of food for the tables. Following the dinner a whole array of speaking talent has been secured to address the group. Frank Kendall of Santa Ana is the main speaker. Harry R. Sheppard, Townsend-indorsed candidate for congress, Harry C. Westover, Democratic nominee for the state senate, and Clyde A. Watson, Democratic nominee for the state assembly from the 74th district, will appear as speakers. These three later speakers are also scheduled to speak in Laguna Beach, and at a Democratic rally to be held in Costa Mesa the same evening.

The county wide Townsend mass meeting held in Santa Ana hall Saturday night was an enthusiastic affair. J. H. Walsh, district organizer, presided. The Hurd-Lentz orchestra gave a mighty swell concert. The gathering evidenced its great appreciation by applause.

The mass meeting that followed was called to order at 7:45 p. m. by J. H. Walsh. The audience sang America and saluted the flag. The Rev. R. F. Russell pronounced the invocation. Mrs. F. A. Parsons of Costa Mesa led the audience in the singing of campaign songs.

Edgar Dix, Townsend speaker, was then introduced and proceeded to give a much appreciated humorous address, yet seriously portrayed the Townsend plan objectives. He vividly pictured to his audience the conditions prevailing in South Dakota Townsend circles and the enthusiasm with which the people of that state have organized and worked for the movement. He told of the hardships of those prairie people during the years of recent drought and dust storms, and of the hope which the Townsend plan brought to them. Dix is an unusual type of speaker but grips the interest and confidence of his audience almost from his first word. He was heavily applauded.

Harry R. Sheppard was the center of interest, as he is the Townsend-indorsed candidate for congress from this district. He confined his remarks pretty much to giving assurance to the Townsendites that nothing would deter him from fighting to enact the Townsend plan into law, if he is elected to congress. He said whether he was elected or not, he would still be for the Townsend plan.

Steele Finley, candidate for supervisor from Santa Ana, and Harry C. Westover, Democratic nominee for the state senate, were each introduced. Each was heartily applauded. The meeting was adjourned by the usual Townsend pledge of loyalty.

Energy Trio for Dinners

By JUDITH WILSON

Spaghetti, macaroni and noodles—the energy trio—can always be converted into nourishing and popular main dishes, but there are other ways of using them to make your everyday menus more attractive.

Here is a recipe you will want to serve often:

Italian Spaghetti

Chop ½ pound beef and cook in ½ cup olive oil until slightly brown. Push the meat to one side of the pan and cook 1 medium-sized onion, chopped, 1 clove of garlic, finely minced, and 1 green pepper, chopped, for 10 minutes. Add 4 cups strained canned tomatoes, ½ can of the spicy tomato paste, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon sugar and 2 cups water. Stir all of the ingredients together and cook slowly for at least 2 hours. You can make this sauce the day before if you wish and store, tightly covered, in your refrigerator. Just before dinner boil 1 package of spaghetti in salted water until tender, drain and rinse with clear boiling water. Serve with plenty of the sauce and grated Parmesan cheese. Four to six servings.

Use House Plants for Window Decorations

What a charming window decoration these little potted plants make!

Heart-shaped philodendron, trailing ivy, rosy-leaved coleus and shy begonia make this tiny window the center of interest in the room. Pottery jars in ivory and vivid blue-green rest on ten-cent glass shelves. For a larger window have glass shelves cut to size.

A south window's best for this lovely picture—though you'll have to remove the begonia during hours of strong sunlight. East is excellent, west fair for decorative plant arrangements. Even a sunless north window is charming with shade-loving ferns and foliage plants.

Our 32-page booklet tells best exposures, temperatures and easy care for ferns, foliage, flowering plants and cacti. How to force bulbs, raise plants in water, make dainty dish gardens. Beautify your house with plants!

Send 10c for your copy of Making Plants and Flowers Grow Indoors to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

'TREASURES' IS PIERIAN THEME

Pierian club members were inspired by a lovely theme at their meeting in the J. F. Jacoby home on East Pomona street Thursday when they chose "Treasures" as the central idea for their writings and read interesting poems for the afternoon program.

Mrs. Earl P. Ladd opened the reading with a poem entitled, "September Jewel," dedicated to her sister; Mrs. Jacob Bohlander followed with two, "Remembrance" and "Love's Treasure," and Mrs. Harry Guthrie with two, "Hidden Treasure" and "Treasure Picture."

Mrs. Church, a guest, read a poem, "Autumn," Mrs. George Bond read "Harvest Moon," "My Treasure Chest," and "Eureka." Mrs. Jane Crawford's poem was entitled, "Variety of Treasures," and Mrs. Hugh Gerrard read two poems to close the program.

Next meeting is to be at the Crawford home, with Mrs. Bohlander as co-hostess.

Restore Oil To Dry Skin With Cream

By JACQUELINE HUNT

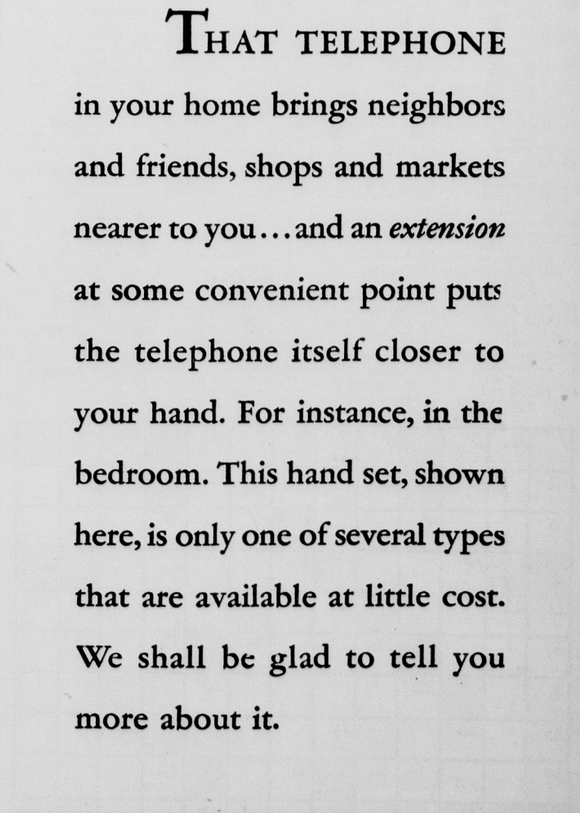

Creams that cleanse, creams that soften and creams that stimulate are very much in demand right now. The summer sun robbed your skin of its precious oils. Long hours of play and exercise out-of-doors have hardened your skin, darkened it and allowed tiny lines to form, especially around the eyes and throat.

To help restore the youthful glow and smoothness to your skin and then to retain it, famous beauticians have perfected new creams for you.

Here is the facial treatment one noted beautician recommends for you. Every night before retiring, wash your face with warm water and mild soap and rinse with cool water. Dry gently with a soft towel. Apply the skin food and work the cream well over the throat and face, beginnig at the base of the neck and working upwards and outwards to the temples. Smooth very gently around the eyes with a rotary motion, leaving a little of the cream around them overnight. You will feel more comfortable if the cream on the rest of the face is removed with tissues. Then pat the skin with a piece of cotton squeezed out of ice water or mild skin tonic.

The cream can be used in the morning, too. Before applying make-up, simply go over the face with a washcloth wrung out of ice water. Dry your face, apply your rouge and dust liberally with powder. The excess powder should be removed with a complexion brush. You will have a lasting make-up and your skin will resist the drying effect of chilly winds after this treatment.

A Phoney Civil Service Plan

WE CANNOT do better in expressing our opposition to Proposition No. 7 on the November 3 ballot than to quote the official argument against it written by Mrs. Paul Eliel, president of the California League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Eliel speaks for an organization whose sincere and intelligent devotion to genuine civil service can not be questioned. Writes Mrs. Eliel of No. 7:

> "This amendment proposes to write into the constitution endless, badly drawn details which will cause long and costly court litigation. It foists on counties and cities, unprepared to handle such matters at the present time, a complicated procedure which can only result in discredit of all civil service and the destruction of what real progress has already been made in this state.
> "A real merit system is that system through which persons enter the public service, advance and remain therein, solely on the basis of demonstrated merit. This amendment deals primarily with permanent life-time jobs and privileges for 65,000 or 70,000 public employes. It does not express the real principles of the merit system.
> "The true merit system benefits the community it serves. This amendment sets up a grotesque and unworkable system designed to benefit the employes without regard for the interests of the community it will come to dominate. Those who believe in securing competent personnel for government positions will vote 'No!'"

Proposition No. 7 would blanket in more than 30,000 present employes in cities and counties of over 1,000 population, regardless of their age, competentness or physical condition, as well as many officials now elected.

It would mean the end of home-rule by taxpayers civil service commissions and the hiring of additional employes at an additional cost of at least $1,000,000 a year.

It would me an the end of home-rule by taxpayers and voters and would surrender all California government to political employe domination. Vote "No."

A football referee is accused of "coaching" the winning team's star backfield man during a conference game. This is indeed serious. The privilege of coaching during a game belongs strictly to those in the grandstand.

Men on Relief

THOSE turbulent members of the Workers Alliance of America who marched on the White House to demand higher wages in the WPA are endangering an organization which was set up for their benefit.

The government is merely experimenting with work relief. There have been many complaints that some of this work is expensive, that it is "boondoggling." There is a possibility that the United States will abandon the principle of work relief—like England—and go on a bare subsistence basis through the dole.

Most Americans, we believe, subscribe to the theory that work relief is far better for the normal stamina of any nation. They remember how in history, Rome was ruined by bread and circuses when the citizens became too spineless and lazy to defend themselves against invading hordes.

But work relief is exactly what its name implies. It is made work, not necessary work, and it is paid for out of taxes. The wage scale, therefore, can not be maintained on a very high level because of the huge governmental expense involved.

If members of the Workers Alliance of America are interested in keeping the WPA in operation, they should not strike and riot for higher wages. They should be thankful that this nation can afford to provide work relief for its unemployed. Otherwise, they would be on the dole—and the monthly check would be a lot smaller than it is now.

The first election pledge to be broken will be that of Jesse Owens. He said "I am going to cast my ballot for Landon," and then discovered he had forgot to register.

Nightmare Over Europe

AS PORTUGAL breaks with the Madrid government and Soviet Russia menaces Germany, the nightmare of war hovers over Europe and only a thin flame of peace wavers between the Old World and new horrors.

Except for a few isolated, fortunate nations like Switzerland and Holland, every state in Europe is threatened by the crisis which has spread from the battle of Fascist and Communist for control of Spain.

America, too, is lucky that it is not imperiled by the war fever and tradition that has inflamed the crowded, military-minded nations across the Atlantic.

The European muddle is as if Idaho should threaten to declare war on Washington if Washington refused to trade lumber for potatoes, while California, with a surplus of oranges, insisted on getting all the lumber and refused to take any potatoes. On top of that, give California the strongest air force, Idaho the strongest army and Washington the strongest navy—and you'd have a typical example of the way European wars are hatched.

All that would be needed, under the European system, would be for California to hire an Arizona man to kill the Washington governor. Then the battle would be on.

Europe thinks in terms of war; America in terms of peace. That is one of the main reasons we are probably the most prosperous and progressive of the great nations of the world.

Prison reform leagues are protesting the abolition of Sing Sing's football team. The alumni have yet to be heard from.

Diary: Leonard Liebling, the music critic, sent me a letter from Odd Udbye in Olso, a land of many Odds. And came a note from George Ade, setting off on his usual hegira to Miami Beach. Also word from Edison Marshall, who will soon be away to far lands again.

So pinging at my paragraphs until Charlie Driscoll came and we discussed newspapering and Kansas. Then with my lady and she bought me a silken muffler with golden dots, as fancy as ever I saw. Thence along the avenue meeting Jules Glaenzer and Ernest Truex.

To a Swedish dinner that the Bob Brinkerhoff's cook dished up and Lee Shippey, talented Los Angeles gazeteer, there and Don Herold and a flush of high jinkeries. Afterward popping by Dick Berlin's a moment and Kay Brush and Bob Winans just going. Abed reading Arthur Guiterman's "Gaily The Troubadour."

The self appointed automobile watchmen who guard curb parked cars in the theatrical, movie and restaurant zone often gouge as much as $100 a week out of motorists. No one seems to know who allots their teritory. To appearances it's a right of seizure and woe betide the interloper who tries to horn in. They are skilled in spotting an owner a block away and race to his car to apply a polishing rag. It is mostly unwanted and covinous service and tribute is achieved by the sheer art of metropolitan bluff.

Most conspicuous of the social come-back ladies is Mrs. Josh Cosden. When her husband's great oil fortune evaporated in the crash, blotting out magnificent homes in New York, Palm Beach, Oklahoma and Europe, she took the blow standing. And is a refutation of the notion that when you lose your money you lose your friends for she is still bracketed in the top flight set and invited everywhere. In that circle she is "Our Nell," who has in a few years become a leading interior decorator. Her most recent assignment was a call to London to express her taste in decor in a new mansion built by Lord and Lady Mountbatten.

Personal nomination for tops in sustaining radio nonsense—Gracie Allen.

Hassard Short was the dinner host success of the past London season. The stage director has developed a culinary artistry in his bachelor chambers off Hyde Park and has invented many drams and dishes that have filtered to many high class restaurant menus over there. Among them the H. S. dessert—a mixture of fresh peaches, boiled, allowed to cool in their own liqueur. Orange curacao is added and the dish served with vanilla and raspberry ice cream. He is also responsible for Black Velvet, a libation of champagne mixed with stout. But the piece de resistance is Kournick a la Russe—a deep dish sort of plum pudding with an overtone of sherry.

Milton Berle is about the last of the chatterbox monologists—that is the only one regularly employed. He is the white haired boy of the cabaret floor shows in New York and Chicago and at the only vaudeville house left—Loew's State. A brash jerkin, suggesting a campus cut-up, he has a leering grin and a shocking flair for vulgarities. Perhaps the audiences know his guttery gaucheries are only acting, for he is strictly a mamma's boy and goes nowhere without her.

Bright Moments

Count Alexander Suwarrow, the great Russian general of Catherine's time, was a strict disciplinarian. His servant even had instructions to nudge him and expostulate mildly if he perceived his master exceeding the limits of meat or drink, or even conversation. When thus exhorted, he would ask: "By whose orders?" "Surwarrow's," the soldier would reply. "Well, he must be obeyed," the general would say, and forthwith leave.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

NEW YORK—Democratic national headquarters this year is a lot different from 1932. For one thing, there is only one big boss running the show.

Four years ago there were more master minds guiding the campaign than you could shake a stick at—Louey Howe, Jim Farley, Professor Moley, Rex Tugwell, Charley Michelson and so on—far into the night.

This year there is only one generalissimo. His name is Farley.

Jim was titular commander in 1932, but actually he was only one of a large-sized general staff. This year he is boss in actually as well as in name. There are numerous minor caliphs, but Jim is chief potentate.

He never makes a move until he has discussed it with Roosevelt—this always has been a fixed rule with Jim—but Roosevelt okay is the only one he now bothers with. Four years ago he had to deal with Tom, Dick and Harry.

This centralization of command is making a lot of difference in the efficiency of the Democratic machine. There is much less of the confusion and tension so apparent in 1932.

Of course, other factors also are partly responsible for this. In 1932 the Democrats were the challengers; their combat machine and chief manipulators were new at the game of running a national campaign. This year they are the "ins" with all the accompanying prestige and power.

GOP VS. DNC

There is a lot of diference between GOP and Democratic headquarters.

The Republican GHQ in Chicago occupies three and a half floors in a Michigan avenue office building. The Democratic command is on two floors of the Biltmore hotel, opposite the Grand Central station, New York. The Democrats had the same quarters in 1932. Hoover's campaign that year was run from Washington with branch offices in New York and Chicago. The Republicans have a branch office in New York this year. The Democrats have no branch headquarters.

Because of the hotel surroundings, carpet-covered corridors and pictures on the walls, Democratic headquarters have an atmosphere of ornate luxury. The rival camp in Chicago is plain, though not threadbare.

Farley's personal offices consist of a suite of rooms he has used as national chairman ever since his elevation to that job four years ago. There is no gaudy furniture. One room, locked off from the rest, is Jim's "hideaway." Here he holds secret conferences or dodges the horde of politicos always clamoring to see him.

FOREIGN APPEAL

Outstanding at the Biltmore headquarters is the number of foreign language and racial designations.

Two whole corridors are lined with signs bearing these legends: Russian-American section, Scandinavian-American section, Hungarian-American section, Italian-American section, German-American section. There is even a Chinese-American section.

All are headed by prominent men and women of each particular national group, each puts out literature in its own language. (The Chinese pamphlet is a museum piece). Each has its shock troop of campaigners. The entire division is headed by Lawrence ("Chip") Robert, former assistant secretary of the treasury, now secretary of the Democratic national committee.

Active director in charge of the foreign group is Ralph Steinberg, a radio transcription expert and a man who has contributed materially to Roosevelt's radio technique.

Also scattered about the Biltmore are divisions for labor, negroes, veterans, first voters, absentee voters, etc.

The staff of the Democratic command is 580; the Republicans, 776.

ONE-SPEECH GARNER

One man you don't see around Democratic headquarters is Vice President Garner.

When Governor Landon sprang his surprise announcement of a campaign foray into California, some of the Democratic strategists thought a big shot of the party ought to be rushed out on his trail. Checking over the list of who might be desirable for his job, they hit on Jack Garner.

A long distance call was put in for him at his home in Uvalde, Tex., and Garner was asked to go. His reaction was prompt and emphatic. Said he:

"Say, I've made the one campaign speech I promised and I am making no more. You don't need to send anyone out to California. The state is safe and so is the rest of the country. Forget it!"

BUDGETS

The Democrats are not spending as much money as the Republicans.

Original Democratic campaign budget called for a total outlay of $2,500,000. Added publicity and radio activities have upped that to $3,000,000. The orginal Republican budget was approximately $5,000,000, with $4,000,000 already spent.

This large sum was required because the Republicans had to start practically from scratch in building up an organization; also, being the challenger and having to fight a powerful and popular regime, they had to spread themselves more heavily and extensively than their incumbent rivals.

Until a few weeks ago contributions to the Democratic war chest was none too plentiful. On some occasions Jim Farley had to scratch hard to get together the big chunks of cash he was called on to produce.

But in the last two weeks a lot of big contributors, hitherto hostile or cold, warmed up, and money has been flowing in steadily. Apparently they saw which way the race was going.

However, Farley expects to end the campaign in the red by about $500,000. This is the usual thing. National committees rarely come out of campaigns without a deficit, and $500,000 is a comparatively small sum for a winner.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Senator George of Georgia—the President's "other" home—is the only outsider who will campaign in Dutchess county, N. Y., where the President's Hyde Park estate is located. . . . Representative Sam Rayburn, chairman of the house interstate commerce committee, is in charge of the speakers bureau and the hardest working man at Democratic national headquarters.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Let the Candidates Discuss Home Questions

EVERY national election reveals, increasingly, the ability of the American to stand punishment. They can "take it." They may get a little groggy under the stupefying effects of political gas, windstorms and thunderbolts. They may not be sure which way to turn for shelter, or how to turn off the political fireworks, but, at least, they persuade themselves they're having a good time, and that somehow or other the country will be saved. They know that the smoke has always cleared away after every one of these national spasms, and that the "morning after," Old Glory has been flapping proudly from the masthead.

One problem bears directly on the people that no political spellbinder can laugh off. The rapidly rising cost of commodities is putting dents and creases in every family pocketbook. The President may praise mounting prices as cause of returning prosperity but that is little comfort to the harassed housewife trying in vain to stretch a dollar that constantly shrinks in purchasing power. It is a curious notion that higher costs to the consumer of everything he buys will encourage him to buy more goods and thus make the wheels of industry turn faster. The great mass of the purchasing public comprises common folks with none too great margin of security at any time. To nibble away more of that margin for the necessities of life is shabby treatment.

Profound questions of economics fade away in the presence of this burden of rising costs. Modern mechanized industry should produce more goods at ever lowering cost. Only in this way can the standard of living rise to higher levels. Producing more goods and keeping them beyond the reach of common folks by jacking up the prices for them is not the way to the more "abundant life." Nor does it help to have higher wages if the cost of living rises higher and faster than wages.

"Rubber dollars" may have certain advantages in international exchange. But when the price of bacon and bread and milk attach themselves to kites and try for altitude records the dollars refuse to stretch. Instead of being made of rubber they are made of lead. And lead is better for weight than for flying.

* * *

Seekers for political office could do not better service than to lay these matters honestly before the public. Why do we pay more for necessities when unemployment is still a tremendous social burden? Why do cotton goods keep climbing and yet the production of cotton is reduced? Why do we forgo choice beef and pork when the production of livestock must be curtailed? Why, in brief, must we live in scarcity when we have all the means of abundance?

LANDON'S VISIT

To the Editor: In his Coliseum speech at Los Angeles, Gov. Landon left unsaid what would have been most interesting and enlightening to Californians.

The candidate did not visit neighboring Oregon, although his prospect of carrying that State is not quite so fanciful as his possibility of winning California; but he may have recalled that Gov. Martin remarked, after the Topeka acceptance speech: that the citizens of Oregon, living in a land of tall timber and rugged mountains, "are naturally suspicious of a lamb leading a wolf pack."

California has splendid schools and excellent public highways, and its people are vitally concerned whether Gov. Landon, if elected, will take the same attitude as to Federal funds he took as to Kansas funds, and insist on reducing California's superior schools and public highways to the status of the inferior schools and poor roads of Kansas.

Likewise, whether he deems California's income and inheritance taxes, paralleling similar Federal taxes, as "cockeyed" as he asserts the corporation surplus tax to be; whether he disapproves the Holding Company Act, the Stock Exchange Act, and the Securities Act, as "cockeyed" legislation; and whether his expressed opposition to insured bank deposits will impel him to ask Congress to repeal that Act as "cockeyed."

Further, the people of California would like to know what Gov. Landon proposes to do about Rural Electrification, the CCC camps, and the Soil Conservation Act; and what specific program he has to supplant the New Deal.

California, the home of the Pacific fleet and of two of the largest soldiers' homes and hospitals, is concerned with national defense and the hospitalization of veterans; and our people are interested in knowing if Gov. Landon classes the upkeep of the navy and support of the soldiers' homes and hospitalization—major items of national expense—among costs which he generalizes as "needless waste and extravagance."

The Townsend Old Age Pension Plan originated in California; its founder, the humanitarian Dr. Francis E. Townsend, beloved by his followers, resides here; this is the home of its largest state membership; and our citizens had the right to expect of a presidential candidate, making a transcontinental trip to ask for their political support, that he discuss that vital major problem, which looms large in the congressional elections, and clearly state what he thinks of the Townsend Plan, and whether he still believes $13.00 per month adequate relief for a family left destitute by the depression.

It was hardly worth while for Gov. Landon to come to California to tell its people that he enjoys mellow sunshine and green grass in the autumnal season, or favors good prices for oranges; any more than it would be necessary to go to Iowa to state that he likes pumpkin pie.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

An old pioneer questions the advisability or desirability of offering a prize to the one who makes the closest guess as to when the next desert wind will arrive, inasmuch as he doesn't want the wind to arrive at all. And, he adds, why publicize an elementary disturbance which we have been trying to live down ever since it received the erroneous cognomen of a "Santa Ana" wind, when it is no more a Santa Ana wind than it is the wind which hits a number of other cities before it reaches us on its way from the desert, where it originates. The pioneer says the quicker we forget it the better for Santa Ana. He doubts whether the Chamber of Commerce would sponsor the idea.

So far I have met no one who welcomes the desert wind. It is about the only incident I recall where the verdict has been unanimous. Maybe there is a reason for and some good in those winds which whip through the canyons, but if there is the virtue has been fairly well concealed, although I have heard that the wind blows the bugs out in the Pacific ocean.

When Harold Brown pushed a sack containing fifty dollars in pennies before the bank teller at one minute before twelve o'clock on a Saturday afternoon it spoiled a whole day for the teller, and only half the day was over. Ordinarily Brown does not exhibit such temperamental conduct, so I conclude that there is something between the teller and the depositor more than cents. I'll find out, but as the case now stands it seems to me like a verdict of justifiable homicide would have been a pleasure to the jury, if the teller had decided to shoot.

The decorators and the painters took possession of C. M. McCain's office Saturday morning, so he did not know the place when he arrived Monday. I've often wondered why "Mac" selected an upstairs office. It doesn't reduce his waist line any. Guess I'll take him around town with me for a few weeks, or send him to Jack Walker. But he don't complain, so why should I?

Jack Gardner, in a by-line article in El Don, writes a story about the swallows leaving their San Juan Capistrano nest, and one of these days some years hence another bird will be leaving the home nest. That's what his dad did, and his mother and all the rest of the dads and mothers. So guess there isn't any way that I know of to prevent it. The custom has been going on for so long that it is too late to change it now. Jack says to give El Don credit for two scoops: First with the swallow story and the school bond election. Well, El Don should have been first. They have the largest force. They got all the "kids" in town helpin' 'em.

Keep your temper. You have kept it this long and the election will be over in about another week. Remember you will have to meet the same fellows after election and transact business with them and be neighbors to them, so what the 'l.

A party left a note on my desk in which he made an accusation he won't have to prove. In fact I do not want him to. Gosh, can't he take a joke. I knew he forgot where he left his car. Say, that temporary aberration takes place almost every day. I meet fellows who come out of their office and admit they have no idea where they parked the car, but it comes back to them later on. I remember one time I helped Jack Hayden find his car, and it was in Orange when we found it, but we had to have the help of State Railroad Commissioner Leon Whitsell. Well, he should know where transportation is going.

Marc Goodnow, field representative for the School of Journalism, U. S. C., bounced a newspaper off my head and wanted to know why I didn't throw my cap away. I told him that would be the equivalent of losing my identity, and proved it by relating an incident where I had worn a hat as a Sunday snob, and when I gave one of the fem friends a week-day salute received in exchange a very formal acknowledgment, which later melted into a more receptive acceptance as recognition dawned. So I am not going to take any more chances of losing my friends, especially on the feminine side. I have a lot of trouble with them, but I'll manage to get along somehow.
